INSTRUCTIONS FOR FOREIGN-FLAG MASTERS

Before the immigration officials of foreign countries permit foreign-flag vessels to enter their ports, the United States requires that the master of each vessel bound for the United States shall have a valid passport and shall have obtained a visa from the American consular officer at the port from which the vessel sails. The immigration laws of the United States require that the master shall deliver to the immigration officer at the first port of entry in the United States a manifest containing certain information concerning the vessel and each person on board. The master must also deliver to the immigration officer at each port of entry a list containing certain information concerning those persons, if any, who are to leave the vessel at that port. Masters of vessels bound for ports in the United States should therefore make sure that they have the proper documents and that they understand the requirements of the immigration laws.

Masters of vessels will be required to deliver manifests and lists of persons landing at ports in the United States to immigration officers at the time of arrival at such ports. Masters of vessels will not be permitted to discharge passengers or crew until the immigration officers have boarded the vessel and examined the manifests and lists of persons landing. Masters of vessels will not be permitted to depart from ports in the United States until they have obtained from the immigration officers written permission to depart.

Masters of vessels will be required to deliver manifests and lists of persons landing at each port in the United States at which the vessel touches, even though the vessel may touch at such ports for the purpose of taking on bunker coal or oil only.

Masters of vessels will be required to deliver manifests and lists of persons landing at ports

SEC. 10. On aliens seamen entering pursuant to rotation into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board the vessel arriving at the United States from a foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment in case of sickness, and shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of other aliens employed on such vessel who are found to belong to the classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, unless security is furnished to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien will depart voluntarily with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within five days after notice to the master of such vessel of the requirement for the departure of such alien.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States shall be liable to a fine of $1,000 in addition to any other penalty which may be imposed. The decision of the Secretary of Labor as to the right of any alien to enter the United States shall be final unless reversed by the Secretary of Labor on appeal taken within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by him. Pending the decision on appeal the alien shall be detained in the custody of the person bringing him to the United States or of the master of the vessel in which he arrived, or of the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and such person shall be liable to the payment of the fine imposed upon the alien if the decision is affirmed. Such sum shall be returned upon the departure of such alien on such vessel within the time specified by the Secretary of Labor.

PAR. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the last required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and no fine imposed by section 35 of said Act shall be remitted or refunded.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the safety of the vessel or the welfare of the crew, unless there is on board a sufficient number of other members of the crew, in the opinion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, to operate the vessel with safety during the period of detention of such alien seaman. Any alien seaman who lands in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration laws of the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or permits to be landed on board any vessel any alien seaman employed upon such vessel shall immediately report such fact to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and report the name of such alien seaman, the vessel on board which he was employed, the date of its departure, and the intended destination of such alien seaman. Any person who fails to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman with respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the alien's right to land or the payment of any fine imposed upon the master under this section, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers if, in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, such vessel has on board any alien seaman who has been refused a landing certificate or who has been ordered deported pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(b) Aliens employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely as a means of passage between foreign ports or between such ports and the United States shall not be deported under the provisions of this section if the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such aliens have been employed in good faith by the vessel in the regular business of such vessel, and will be employed by it in such business during its next voyage, and that they intend to depart from the United States with such vessel upon such voyage.

(c) Any alien seaman who shall leave any vessel or other means of transportation upon arrival in the United States with the intention of residing permanently therein, or who shall remain therein in violation of law, shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel and who is certified by a consular officer in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be entered on the records of the Department of Labor and shall be given a certificate of identification by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master of the vessel upon its departure from the United States. Upon the application of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel the certificate of identification of any alien seaman who has been granted shore leave, and such alien seaman may be employed on such vessel upon its return to the United States, if otherwise admissible under the immigration laws.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman who has been granted shore leave will result in serious injury to the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, or that the vessel will be unduly delayed in its departure from the United States, he may grant a permit to such alien seaman to remain in the United States for such time as he may deem necessary for the protection of the interests of the vessel or the prevention of undue delay in its departure, but such permit shall not be granted because of the inability of the master to secure another seaman to take the place of such alien seaman.

(f) Any person who knowingly brings into the United States any alien seaman for the purpose of evading any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly aids or abets any alien seaman in evading any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly conceals or harbors any alien seaman who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 9. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the West Indies, Central America, the Canal Zone, the Philippine Islands, or the islands of Cuba or Panama, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization, or because of quarantine, or because of the necessity of obtaining repairs or supplies or because of other circumstances found by the Secretary of Labor to be beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and then only under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel in violation of this section shall be taken into custody upon the vessel's departure or subsequently and deported in the manner provided in section 20 of the Act of February 20, 1907, as amended by section 19 of the Act of May 26, 1924.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall cause each alien seaman (whether a member of the crew or not) found on board such vessel to be examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States except for such medical examination, unless upon the certificate of such medical officer that such alien seaman is not suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects which would be a ground for his exclusion from the United States under section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and that such alien seaman is not coming to the United States to perform labor or engage in any other employment. Such certificate shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall be found to be suffering from any disease or mental or physical defect or disability which would be a ground for his exclusion from the United States under section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and who shall not have been issued a certificate by the medical officer at the port of arrival, as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, subject to the inspection of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, for examination by a medical officer of the Public Health Service, and certification as provided in subdivision (a) of this section. Any such alien seaman who shall be certified by the medical officer of the Public Health Service at the port of arrival to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified in subdivision (a) of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in section 20 of the Act of February 20, 1907, as amended by section 19 of the Act of May 26, 1924, unless such alien seaman shall be entitled to admission under section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or shall be admitted under the discretionary authority contained in section 4 of said Act.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the ground that he was afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified in subdivision (a) of this section cannot be accomplished without danger to the health of the people of the United States, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board or at quarantine until such time as he may be certified to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the Secretary of Labor as no longer dangerous to the health of the people of the United States, or he may cause such alien seaman to be removed to a hospital for treatment and detention until such time as he may be certified as aforesaid, or he may cause such alien seaman to be removed to the custody of the State or local authorities for quarantine detention under the quarantine laws of the State.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not obtain upon the discharge from any vessel in the United States a certificate from the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival that he has complied with the provisions of this section shall be deported as an alien who has remained in the United States in violation of law.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall think that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will result in danger to the public health, or that the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in hospital or otherwise pending deportation on such vessel will be unreasonably great, he may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel which in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor can be utilized for the purpose without undue danger to the public health or undue cost for maintenance, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the Immigration Service.

(f) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any question under this section, or while any alien seaman employed thereon is required by this section to be detained on board or at quarantine, nor shall any vessel be granted clearance papers if any fine imposed upon her master under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(g) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of any certificate issued by the medical officer at the port of arrival, or who shall depart from the United States in violation of any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall enter the United States in violation of this section, shall be deported as an alien who has remained in the United States in violation of law.

(h) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as an alien who has remained in the United States in violation of law, unless he shall have been granted shore leave by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and shall have given a sufficient bond to the collector conditioned upon the return on board of such alien seaman when required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel or by the immigrant inspector, or upon the departure of such vessel from the United States, or shall have obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been granted permission to remain in the United States.

(i) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman (whether a member of the crew or not) found on board such vessel to be examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service at the port of arrival or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any question under this section, or while any alien seaman employed thereon is required by this section to be detained on board or at quarantine, nor shall any vessel be granted clearance papers if any fine imposed upon her master under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(h) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported as an alien who has remained in the United States in violation of law, unless he shall have been granted shore leave by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, and shall have given a sufficient bond to the collector conditioned upon the return on board of such alien seaman when required by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel or by the immigrant inspector, or upon the departure of such vessel from the United States, or shall have obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been granted permission to remain in the United States.

(i) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any question under this section, or while any alien seaman employed thereon is required by this section to be detained on board or at quarantine, nor shall any vessel be granted clearance papers if any fine imposed upon her master under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(j) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any rule or regulation made hereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any immigrant inspector, or who shall secrete or attempt to secrete any alien seaman in order to prevent his being inspected or examined by a medical officer of the Public Health Service or by an immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of any question under this section, or while any alien seaman employed thereon is required by this section to be detained on board or at quarantine, nor shall any vessel be granted clearance papers if any fine imposed upon her master under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital to which he may be taken by the secretary of labor upon the ultimate deportation of the vessel, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien immigrant, or the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien who is destined to a port in the United States, shall be required to pay a tax of $8 for each such alien immigrant, which tax shall be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district at which the vessel shall first arrive, and shall be in addition to any other tax or charge imposed by law. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or any other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers for such vessel until the master thereof shall have paid to the collector of customs the tax imposed by this section in connection with each alien immigrant listed in the manifest required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival. The master of any vessel who knowingly violates or evades the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien immigrant with respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or any other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers pending the determination of the liability of the master to the payment of the tax imposed by this section, nor shall any bond given for the payment of such tax be prejudiced in any way by reason of the pendency of such determination.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in a port of the United States shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, unless the Secretary of Labor shall grant him a permit to remain in the United States for the period of his service on board some vessel engaged in the commerce of the United States, and shall give to the master of such vessel a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of the tax imposed by this section in connection with such alien seaman, in such penal sum as the Secretary of Labor may require, not exceeding $1,000. Such bond shall be conditioned that such alien seaman shall depart from the United States on such vessel within such period of time as the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe, and that the master will pay to the collector of customs the tax imposed by this section in connection with such alien seaman if he fails to depart on such vessel. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, cancel any such bond upon the substitution therefor of a new bond with sufficient surety, or upon the deposit of the amount thereof with the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that a master has failed to comply with any of the requirements of this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or has connived or conspired to bring to the United States any alien seaman who has deserted or is likely to desert any vessel upon which he may be employed, he may refuse clearance to any vessel of which such master is in charge while such master remains in command.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, as a passenger, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported in the manner provided for the deportation of other aliens.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that a master has failed to deport any alien seaman as required by this section, he shall report the facts to the Secretary of State, who shall thereupon refuse to grant to any citizen of the country to which such master belongs a passport to enter the United States, or, if such master be a citizen of the United States, his application for a passport shall be refused unless he shall produce evidence that he has complied with the requirements of this section.

Any violation of the immigration laws of the United States will be punished by the imposition of a fine upon the master of the vessel as follows: $100 for each and every alien not duly certified by the proper immigration officer at the port of departure, and in addition thereto, if the master knowingly violates the immigration laws of the United States, he may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. (Act Mar. 3, 1903, 32 Stat. L., 1213.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver at the office of the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists or manifests of all the persons on board of such vessel, showing the number thereof, and containing such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor and by such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may by regulation prescribe: And provided further, That if it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that any master, agent, consignee, owner, or officer of any vessel has refused or neglected to comply with the provisions of this section or any regulation thereof, or has connived at the landing in violation of law of any alien from any such vessel, he shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 for each such alien landed or attempted to be landed in violation of law: Provided, That clearance may be granted to any such vessel prior to the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond or undertaking therefor in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien.

SEC. 37. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel from a place outside the North American continent, or from a place in the North American continent, not adjacent to the United States, having on board any alien who is destined to the United States, who is afflicted with any mental disease at the time of the inspection of such alien by the proper immigration officer, but which said disease was not then known to said officer, or who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, which said disease would have been detected by said officer had such alien been subjected to a test or examination at the time of such inspection, or who has been deported on the certificate of the Secretary of Labor, shall be required to provide for the proper care of such alien while in the United States and for his return to the country whence he came, and to give a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of Labor, in such sum, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by him, conditioned for the return of such alien within such period of time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and for the payment of the cost of his care and maintenance while in the United States, and for the payment of the cost of his return to the country whence he came, unless the Secretary of Labor shall decide that the return of such alien would be unsafe or inimical to the interests of the United States, and in lieu of such bond or undertaking the master, agent, consignee, owner, or charterer of such vessel may deposit with the Secretary of Labor such sum of money as the Secretary of Labor may require, not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien, to guarantee the performance of the conditions of such bond or undertaking, and may sue thereon in the name of the United States for any breach of the conditions thereof.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside the North American continent, or from a place in the North American continent not adjacent to the United States, who is afflicted with any mental disease at the time of inspection by the proper immigration officer, but which said disease was not then known to said officer, or who has been deported on the certificate of the Secretary of Labor, shall be detained until a hearing can be had before a board of special inquiry, unless in the opinion of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port such detention is unnecessary. Such hearing shall be had upon the certificate of the medical officer of the public health service designated to conduct the examination, unless the alien shall demand that the board consist in part of physicians of his own selection, in which case he shall be entitled to have not more than two such physicians on the board, the other members thereof to be appointed as provided in section 25 of this act. Such boards shall have the power to determine whether such alien belongs to any of the classes excluded by law, and their decision by a majority vote shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Secretary of Labor. Pending the final determination of the case, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate determination of the case, or pursuant to bond. Such bond shall be in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, and with such sureties as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and may be sued upon from time to time by and in the name of the United States for the use of any person who may be injured or damaged by reason of the breach of any of the conditions thereof. Any alien who shall have been excluded from admission to the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 20 and 21 of this act, unless he shall be duly admitted after a subsequent examination and decision that he belongs to a class not excluded by law. Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or who shall remain therein for a longer time than permitted under this act or any rule or regulation made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 20 and 21 of this act, unless he shall depart voluntarily from the United States within a period of one month from the date when he became subject to deportation, or unless, prior to the date of his departure, he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart within such time was due to sickness or physical or mental disability or to accident or to the act or default of the master of the vessel on which he was ordered to take passage, or to the fact that the vessel on which he was ordered to take passage has been withdrawn from the service in which it was engaged when he was ordered to take passage thereon, or to such cause beyond his control as may be specified in the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation will result in serious injury to the owners, consignees, or agents of the vessel on which the alien to be deported arrived, or that the vessel is needed for the public service, he may cancel the outstanding bond or undertaking of such vessel upon the payment of the penalty prescribed by section 36 of this act, and the alien may be deported on any other vessel or in any other manner specified by the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until a bond in the penal sum of $500 with sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or his authorized representative, has been given to the United States to guarantee that such alien seaman will not become a public charge, and that he will depart from the United States within such period of time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time. Such bond shall be in addition to any other bond required by law. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, without having given such bond, or who shall remain in the United States after the period of time specified by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall be incapable of thereafter obtaining a visa as an immigrant or a admission to the United States as an immigrant, unless the Secretary of Labor shall specially determine that the circumstances in the case warrant the granting to him of a visa or admission to the United States as an immigrant.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the United States as required by this section shall be on the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, unless such alien seaman shall have been specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land temporarily in the United States without giving a bond as provided for in this section.

No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of this section.

(f) The word "vessel" as used in this section shall be construed to include all means of transportation by water, whether public or private, used for the conveyance of persons or property.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, operator, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall cause a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the Public Health Service (hereinafter called "medical officer"), or duly qualified assistant, of each alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be made by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival for immigration purposes, and shall pay to the United States for each such examination the sum of $1.25 for each alien seaman so examined in respect of whom such inspection or examination is not required by this section. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of this section, and the Secretary of Labor may withhold clearance of any vessel the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of which shall refuse to pay any such fine within the period of time specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the United States as required by this section shall be on the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, unless such alien seaman shall have been specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land temporarily in the United States without giving a bond as provided for in this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem that any vessel is employing alien seamen to the detriment of labor conditions in the United States, he may withhold clearance of such vessel until a sum sufficient to cover any fine which may be imposed under the provisions of this section shall be deposited with the collector of customs, and may withhold clearance of any vessel which has been granted clearance but has not sailed until such sum has been deposited with the collector of customs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of this section, and the Secretary of Labor may withhold clearance of any vessel the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of which shall refuse to pay any such fine within the period of time specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time. Such bond shall be in addition to any other bond required by law. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until a bond in the penal sum of $500 with sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or his authorized representative, has been given to the United States to guarantee that such alien seaman will not become a public charge, and that he will depart from the United States within such period of time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below covering aliens proposing to depart from this port has been prepared by the Department and is ready for delivery to the immigration inspector possessing the power to examine aliens and issue certificates of admission to the United States. The list of crewmen who are aliens is also ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and aliens on it may be landed on board, but aliens belonging to the principal immigration officer at the port (Room 688) and not mentioned on such list must be examined at the immigrant station.

When an alien crewman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to present to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival full information in writing as to the name, nationality, last residence, and destination of every alien on board such vessel, whether such alien be a cabin passenger or steerage passenger, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, the Secretary of Labor, or any person in charge of the examination of aliens; and it shall be the duty of the master or commanding officer and the agent, owner, or consignee of every such vessel to detain on board or at quarantine any alien not duly certified to land by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and to deliver to the immigration officer at such port a manifest in duplicate containing such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and to subscribe to such manifest a declaration before such immigration officer, in such form as may be prescribed by him, that to the best of his knowledge and belief the information contained in such manifest is true and correct. Such manifest shall be prepared and sworn to by the master or commanding officer and the agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel, except that in the case of a vessel employed regularly in the transportation of passengers between foreign ports and ports of the United States the master or commanding officer and the agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel may, under such regulations as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe, prepare and sign a manifest covering the return trip of such vessel from each foreign port at which such vessel shall touch before sailing for the United States. Such manifest shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States before any passenger is landed from such vessel, and shall be prima facie evidence, in any proceeding had with reference to the exclusion or deportation of any alien, of the truth of the statements contained therein. Any master or commanding officer, or agent, owner, or consignee of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section or any regulation made by the Commissioner General of Immigration pursuant thereto, or who shall refuse to detain on board or at quarantine any alien liable to be so detained, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse to subscribe to the declaration required in the preparation thereof, or who shall refuse to answer any question touching the information required as to any alien, or who shall make any false answer to any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each such offense.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival and time specified in the list prepared by the Commissioner General of Immigration and delivered to the master or commanding officer of the vessel the name of any alien, or the cause for detaining such alien, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port is located a sum not exceeding $300 for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any place outside thereof who is found to be unable to establish to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival that he is in possession of the money required by this Act, or who is found to be assisted by any friend or relative, unless such friend or relative shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is not likely to become a public charge, shall be detained at the port of arrival pending the final determination of the question of the possession of sufficient money, or the ability of such friend or relative to prevent the alien from becoming a public charge, and such determination shall be subject to review by the Secretary of Labor on appeal taken within three days after the rendition of the decision appealed from.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of any alien who has been admitted to the United States would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States for any reason, the Secretary of Labor may, after a hearing, cancel any certificate granted to such alien under the provisions of this Act, and such alien shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(d) Every alien shall be subject to deportation from the United States in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act who shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property; or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property; or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization which writes, prints, publishes, or causes to be written, printed, published, or circulated any book, paper, document, or any written or printed matter containing threats against the life of the President or any other executive officer of the United States or of any organized government, because of his official character, or containing an incitement to the assassination of any such executive or officials, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from a foreign port shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to which he may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the medical officer in charge of the port, or pending the final determination of the case by the Secretary of Labor upon appeal taken within the time specified in subdivision (b) of this section, unless such alien shall furnish a bond in the sum of $500 with sufficient surety, or deposit the sum of $500, conditioned upon the departure of such alien within such period as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding four months, and upon the payment of the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and of his removal therefrom. Upon the refusal to land any such alien, the master of the vessel on which he arrived shall be notified in writing by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and it shall thereupon be the duty of the master to remove such alien on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel under the master's control to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resided and from which he entered the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by the alien and which will receive him. Pending the removal of such alien from the United States, the master shall be responsible for his detention on board his vessel or elsewhere as directed by the immigrant inspector in charge. Any master who refuses or fails to remove any alien as required by this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such refusal or failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay the penalty, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from a foreign port shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to which he may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the medical officer in charge of the port, or pending the final determination of the case by the Secretary of Labor upon appeal taken within the time specified in this subdivision, or while any bond given by the master to guarantee the departure of such alien is in force, or while the case of such alien is pending before the courts on writ of habeas corpus: Provided, That clearance may be granted by the collector of customs of the district in which such vessel arrives to the master thereof upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such alien's maintenance while in the United States and the cost of his removal therefrom in any case in which the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival has certified that in his opinion the applicant for admission is not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission to the United States, but that the question of admissibility should be determined by the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel that has violated the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and such violation has not been duly reported to the Secretary of Labor, with the action taken thereon, as required by section 36 of said Act.

No application for clearance shall be considered by the collector of customs unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has filed with the collector a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been complied with, and that the vessel is entitled to clearance from the United States so far as the immigration laws are concerned. The certificate shall be in the following form:

PORT OF ARRIVAL, ____, 19__.

I certify that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the ____ has complied with the provisions of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, so far as the same relate to the immigration laws.

Any master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest of aliens required of him by the proper immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from the United States, or who shall refuse to answer any question in relation to the number and nationality of the persons on board such vessel, or who knowingly or willfully makes a false statement in relation thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or by reason of an emergency, or for such time as may be necessary to enable the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel to secure another seaman in his place, and such seaman shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 hereof.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or attempts to land on board thereof any alien seaman employed on such vessel (whether inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the immigration officer, or the officer in charge of the port may in his discretion order such examination to be made by a medical officer), to whom clause (6) of section 3 hereof is applicable, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so landed, or the full amount of the bond required by this section, whichever is less, and such alien seaman shall be immediately deported in the manner provided in section 19 hereof. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to pay the penalty herein provided for, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or on a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or on any vessel departing from the United States, who is ordered deported by the Secretary of Labor, shall be taken from such vessel by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and shall be placed on board a vessel or other means of transportation departing from the United States, the cost of such deportation to be borne by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States. Such cost shall be a lien upon the vessel, and clearance may be withheld or the vessel may be seized and sold to pay such cost. Such seaman shall be deported to the country in which he resides, or to the country in which the vessel on which he arrived in the United States has its home port, or to the country from which the vessel sailed last prior to arrival at the port of arrival in the United States, as the Secretary of Labor may direct.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that such deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States will be unduly delayed by reason of the refusal of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to pay the cost of such deportation, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or may cause such alien seaman to be transported to any other country willing to receive him, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid as provided in subdivision (b) of this section.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States, except temporarily for the sole purpose of enabling the master to arrange for the departure of such alien seaman, and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the safeguarding of the public interest. Any master who employs any alien seaman in violation of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and any master who fails to detain any alien seaman pending the determination of his admissibility to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of any penalty imposed upon the master with respect to any alien seaman, or while any such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on which he was employed pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel on which he was employed pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section without the written permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to have remained in the United States in violation of law, and shall be subject to all the penalties prescribed by the immigration laws for the deportation of aliens who remain in the United States in violation of law.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on which he was employed pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section will result in undue expense to the Government, or that deportation on such vessel will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel which in his opinion can be used for that purpose, and the cost of such deportation shall be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year in which such deportation occurs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States within the time limited in his permit, or any extension thereof granted for the purpose of enabling him to depart, shall be deemed to remain in the United States in violation of law, and shall be subject to all the penalties prescribed by the immigration laws for the deportation of aliens who remain in the United States in violation of law.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The Department has received notice from various ports that masters of vessels are not complying with the immigration laws in the matter of the certificate of manifest required by the Act of February 5, 1917, to be executed by the master of every vessel bringing aliens to the United States from any foreign port or place. The Act requires that the certificate be executed before the vessel leaves the last port of departure, and that a copy be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States. Masters are therefore warned that they will be required to comply with the law in this respect, and that a penalty of $10 will be imposed for each violation.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at the United States from the foreign part to which it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel to deliver lists and manifests required by section 12 of this Act, and every alien who may be brought into the United States in any manner whatsoever not specifically mentioned in the said lists or manifests, shall be taken before the inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and each such alien shall be examined by said inspector, either before or after he has passed the primary line, as to his admissibility under the provisions of this Act. Every alien who may not appear to the primary inspector at the time of his application for admission or who may be detained by the immigrant inspector for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act shall be detained until a true manifest and such other lists as may be required have been filed and the said alien duly examined by the special inquiry officers. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have power to prescribe rules and make all necessary orders for the detention, maintenance, and care of aliens arriving at ports while their cases are being investigated. The compensation of all persons employed for the performance of the duties imposed by this section shall be fixed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. The cost of maintenance while on board vessel and the actual cost of their return passage shall be paid to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel bringing them. Any alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported as provided by law. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be fined not more than $1,000 and imprisoned not more than one year, and may be deported after the expiration of his sentence in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who become public charges from causes existing prior to their entry. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been deported under the provisions of this Act

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below requires that a passenger ticket or other proper evidence of payment of the passage money shall be delivered to each passenger before he embarks. Failure to comply with this law subjects the master of the vessel to a penalty of $10 for each passenger not so provided with a ticket or other evidence of payment. The law does not require that a ticket be delivered to a passenger who is a member of the crew (from sea) shall not be required on board, and shall be delivered by the master to the inspector of immigration.

After the vessel has left the last port of departure in a foreign country and before she arrives at the first port of entry in the United States, the master must deliver to the inspector at the port of arrival a correct list or manifest of all the passengers who have been taken on board at such foreign port or place, and must report the sickness and the number of deaths, if any, which have occurred on board during the voyage, and must make oath before the said inspector to the truth of such list or manifest and report. Such list or manifest must show the name, age, sex, calling, nationality, and last residence of each passenger, whether cabin or steerage; the country to which each passenger belongs; whether each passenger is married or single; whether each passenger can read or can not read; whether each passenger has been in the United States before, and if so, when, where, and how long; whether each passenger has a ticket to his final destination or has been paid for by others, or has paid for himself, and how much he has paid; whether each passenger is in possession of $50 and if not, how much he has with him, not including the clothing in use; whether each passenger is going to join a husband, wife, father, mother, or other relative, and if so, what relative, and where such husband, wife, father, mother, or other relative resides; whether each passenger has a ticket entitling him or her to transportation to any place in the United States, and if so, what place; whether each passenger has been employed in the United States, and if so, when and where; whether each passenger is an immigrant, and if so, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporarily engaging in labor in the United States; whether each passenger is a polygamist; whether each passenger is an anarchist; whether each passenger is coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or expectation of employment of any kind whatever in the United States, and if so, what kind of employment, and by whom such offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement was made; whether each passenger is suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and if so, what disease; whether each passenger is deformed or crippled, and if so, how and from what cause; whether each passenger is under sentence of imprisonment or has been convicted of any crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and if so, what crime or misdemeanor; and whether each passenger is a person who has been in a prison, almshouse, asylum, or hospital, or who has been supported by charity. The master must also furnish information in writing in answer to such other questions as may be required by the Secretary of the Treasury, touching the right of any passenger to enter the United States.

That every vessel at any time entering or departing from any port or place in the United States from which passengers are carried to any port or place in a foreign country, or to the insular possessions of the United States, shall, before entering such port or place, or before departing therefrom, as the case may be, cause to be delivered to the proper officer of customs for each such port or place a separate list or manifest of all such passengers taken on board at such port or place, which list or manifest shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, taken before a duly authorized officer, and shall contain such information, and be in such form, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall deliver the same to the officer of customs who demands the same, or to whom the same is required to be delivered. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel of the United States shall be entitled to a certificate of admission to the United States, or to demand or enter any port of the United States, unless he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consular officer at the port or place from which he departs, if there be such an officer at such port or place, and if there be no such officer at such port or place, then by the consular officer of the United States nearest to the port or place from which such alien seaman departs, and unless such passport shows that such alien seaman has been granted by such consular officer a permit to depart to the United States. Such permit shall be granted only upon the production by such alien seaman of a valid passport and of such other evidence as may be required by the rules governing the granting of such permits. Such passport shall be exhibited to the immigration officers at the port of entry of the United States, and shall be delivered by the alien seaman to the master or commanding officer of the vessel on which he arrives in the United States, and by such master or commanding officer shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of departure from the United States.

SEC. 32. That every vessel at any time entering or departing from any port or place in the United States from which passengers are carried to any port or place in a foreign country, or to the insular possessions of the United States, shall, before entering such port or place, or before departing therefrom, as the case may be, cause to be delivered to the proper officer of customs for each such port or place a separate list or manifest of all such passengers taken on board at such port or place, which list or manifest shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, taken before a duly authorized officer, and shall contain such information, and be in such form, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. Such list or manifest shall be delivered before the departure of such vessel from such port or place, except that in the case of vessels putting into such port in distress or touching at such port for the purpose of taking on board seamen, or for any other reason, the list or manifest of passengers taken on board at such port or place shall be delivered within forty-eight hours after the entry of such vessel at the port of destination in the United States, unless the vessel shall sooner depart from such port of destination, in which case the list or manifest shall be delivered before such departure. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall deliver the same to the officer of customs who demands the same, or to whom the same is required to be delivered. Such list or manifest shall be in addition to any other list or manifest required by law to be delivered by the master or commanding officer of such vessel.

(a) That it shall be the duty of the master or commanding officer of any vessel bringing passengers to any port in the United States from any foreign port or place to report and deliver to the proper officer of customs at the port of arrival, before any passenger is landed, a true list or manifest of all alien passengers who have been taken on board at any foreign port or place, which list or manifest shall state the full name, age, sex, calling, nationality, and last residence of each such alien passenger, whether cabin or steerage, the country to which each passenger belongs, whether each passenger is married or single, whether each passenger can read or can not read, whether each passenger has been in the United States before, and if so, when, where, and how long, whether each passenger has a ticket to his final destination or has been paid for by others, or has paid for himself, and how much he has paid, whether each passenger is in possession of fifty dollars and if not, how much he has with him, not including the clothing in use, whether each passenger is going to join a husband, wife, father, mother, or other relative, and if so, what relative, and where such husband, wife, father, mother, or other relative resides, whether each passenger has been employed in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether each passenger is an immigrant, and if so, whether he intends to return to his native country after temporarily engaging in labor in the United States, whether each passenger is a polygamist, whether each passenger is an anarchist, whether each passenger is coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or expectation of employment of any kind whatever in the United States, and if so, what kind of employment, and by whom such offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement was made, whether each passenger is suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and if so, what disease, whether each passenger is deformed or crippled, and if so, how and from what cause, whether each passenger is under sentence of imprisonment or has been convicted of any crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and if so, what crime or misdemeanor, and whether each passenger is a person who has been in a prison, almshouse, asylum, or hospital, or who has been supported by charity, or such other questions as may be required by the Secretary of the Treasury touching the right of any passenger to enter the United States.

(b) If such list or manifest of passengers taken on board at any foreign port or place is not delivered as required by this section, or if it is not verified as required by this section, or if it does not contain the information required by this section, the master or commanding officer of such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival $10 for each passenger not so provided with a ticket or other evidence of payment, and not so listed or reported, and not so verified, and such vessel shall not be granted a clearance from such port of arrival until such penalty is paid or until the collector of customs at such port of arrival is satisfied that no such penalty is due.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below should be observed on board of every vessel. The law is for the protection of the passengers, particularly those who may be traveling alone, and should be carefully observed by the master of every vessel.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to bring into or land in the United States from any foreign port or place at which passengers are taken on board any vessel to be carried to a port of the United States any alien not lawfully admitted to the United States or who is not in possession of a valid passport viséed by the proper consular officer of the United States, or, if a passport is not required by the laws or regulations of the country to which the vessel is bound, of a valid certificate of identity issued by the proper authority of the country from which the alien intends to depart and by the consular officer of the United States at the port of departure, and containing the name, nationality, age, personal description, and last permanent residence of the alien: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the requirements of this section in favor of any alien entering or seeking to enter the United States solely to avoid danger to life or limb in the event of the vessel on which he is a passenger or is to become a passenger touching at a port in the United States or for any other reason in the interest of the alien or of navigation or the public interest, and may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section; but no alien shall be admitted to the United States who is not in possession of a valid passport viséed as aforesaid, or who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is an anarchist, or who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who is a polygamist, or who believes in or advocates the practice of polygamy; and any alien who shall knowingly bring into the United States any person or persons afflicted with any such loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who has been convicted of any such felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is an anarchist, or who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who is a polygamist, or who believes in or advocates the practice of polygamy, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country whence he came, at the expense of the person bringing him, or of the vessel or corporation bringing him, to the United States, and shall be incapable of becoming a citizen of the United States. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien who is otherwise admissible, but who is afflicted with a contagious disease which is curable, for a sufficient time to effect a cure, and may, in his discretion, permit any such alien to enter the United States for such time as he may deem necessary for the emergency of the case, but no such alien shall be permitted to enter the United States unless he shall first deposit with the Secretary of Labor such sum of money as the Secretary of Labor shall think sufficient to provide for the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or unless such provision has been otherwise made. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe the sum of money to be deposited by such alien, and shall refund the deposit when in his opinion the necessity for detaining the alien in the United States has ceased.

SEC. 38. (a) That any person, company, partnership, or corporation, or agent of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof, who shall bring into the United States from any country, foreign port, or place any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall bring into the United States any alien for the purpose of assisting such alien to enter unlawfully, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect from discovery any such alien, or who shall aid or abet any such alien to enter or to try to enter unlawfully, or who shall connive or conspire with any person or persons for the unlawful entry into the United States of any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any person, company, partnership, or corporation, or agent of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof, who shall knowingly or willfully make any false statement or representation in connection with the landing in the United States of any alien, or who shall knowingly or willfully make any false statement or representation in connection with the application for a visé of a passport or other document required by this Act to be obtained by an alien before entering the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) Any person, company, partnership, or corporation, or agent of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof, who shall knowingly or willfully refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him or it by any provision of this Act, or who shall knowingly or willfully do any act prohibited by any provision of this Act, for the performance of which act or the refraining from the doing of which act no penalty is otherwise prescribed by this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) Any person, company, partnership, or corporation, or agent of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof, who shall knowingly or willfully refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him or it by any provision of this Act, or who shall knowingly or willfully do any act prohibited by any provision of this Act, for the performance of which act or the refraining from the doing of which act no penalty is otherwise prescribed by this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

The cost of such maintenance and removal shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by the United States or any person who pays any part thereof in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which the vessel may be found. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subdivision, including the giving of notice to masters of vessels of the requirements thereof, and may require masters of vessels to furnish lists or manifests of aliens on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible], of the [illegible] #, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew now on board the said vessel, and that to the best of my knowledge and belief no person whose name is not contained in the list has been carried on board, and that no boat has been sent on shore except those whose names are contained in the list, or have been reported and their names added to the list, and that the said list contains a full and true account of all deserters from the said vessel from the time of her departure from the last port where she touched until her departure from this port, so far as I have been able to ascertain the same; and that I will not land, or permit to be landed, any person whose name is not entered in the said list, unless it be such as shall be duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the proper officer of the customs.

[illegible], Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this [illegible] day of [illegible], 1[illegible].

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be used by the Immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of aliens to be examined at each inspection district shall be delivered by the master to the Immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form 288) and not be returned to the master, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port or place if alien be the duly of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival the said manifest of all the aliens on board the vessel, whether destined to the United States or to pass in transit through the same, and to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival the names of all aliens who may have been detained on board for examination, and the facts in relation thereto, and such other information in regard to said aliens as may be required by the rules prescribed hereby or by the Secretary of Labor. Any master who refuses to deliver the said manifest and report, or who fails to deliver the same within the time prescribed by this Act, or who knowingly delivers an incorrect or false manifest, or who refuses to the proper officer the right to go on board the vessel for the purpose of examining the same, or who refuses to such officer to take such other measures as may be necessary to secure the proper execution of the provisions of this Act relating to the said manifest and report, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct and true information is not contained in such manifest and report, to be sued for and recovered by the Secretary of Labor, for the use of the United States, in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That the master may be relieved from the payment of such sum if it be established to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that it was impossible for him to obtain such information before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at: Provided further, That no master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel shall be employed on board thereof in the capacity of master, officer, or member of the crew who has been convicted of violating the provisions of this section, but such penalty shall not apply to masters of vessels employed exclusively in the trade between Canada and the United States or between Mexico and the United States.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien, not a native citizen of the United States, to any port of the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien who has been in Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Republic of Panama in pursuance of the immigration laws of the United States and the rules prescribed thereunder) shall at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place in which such alien shall embark for the United States, cause such alien to be examined by a United States immigrant inspector at the said port or place, and shall not issue a permit or other document authorizing the master to bring such alien to the United States, nor shall the master bring such alien to the United States without such permit or other document. Such examination shall include an inquiry into the admissibility of such alien under the immigration laws and rules prescribed thereunder, and shall be had and completed before the sailing of the vessel on which such alien is to be brought to the United States, and the master shall not permit such alien to depart from the vessel at any port in the United States prior to the completion of such examination and the granting of a permit or other document authorizing the master to bring such alien to the United States, except in the case of an alien who has been admitted to the United States and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if required by the immigration laws then in force, and who is returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad not exceeding six months in duration. Such immigrant inspector shall have the right to board the vessel at any time prior to the departure thereof from any port or place for the purpose of examining any alien on board, and to this end shall be furnished by the master with a safe and suitable place for such examination, and shall have the right to detain the vessel at the port or place of departure for a period not exceeding two hours after the scheduled time of sailing for the purpose of completing the examination of any such alien. Any master who shall refuse to permit such examination, or who shall sail the vessel before the same is completed, or before the expiration of the two hours' detention herein provided for, or who shall refuse to detain any alien when required so to do by the immigrant inspector in charge, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of departure is located the sum of $300 for each alien with respect to whom such refusal occurs. Any such penalty may be sued for and recovered by the Secretary of Labor, for the use of the United States, in any court of competent jurisdiction. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has complied with the provisions of this section, and produced to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of departure is located the certificate of the immigrant inspector that he has complied therewith. Any master who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly makes any false statement in connection with the examination of any alien, or who knowingly refuses to allow any alien to be examined, or who knowingly refuses to detain any alien when required so to do by the immigrant inspector in charge, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien who has been in Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Republic of Panama in pursuance of the immigration laws of the United States and the rules prescribed thereunder) shall at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place in which such alien shall embark for the United States, cause such alien to be examined by a United States immigrant inspector at the said port or place, and shall not issue a permit or other document authorizing the master to bring such alien to the United States, nor shall the master bring such alien to the United States without such permit or other document. Such examination shall include an inquiry into the admissibility of such alien under the immigration laws and rules prescribed thereunder, and shall be had and completed before the sailing of the vessel on which such alien is to be brought to the United States, and the master shall not permit such alien to depart from the vessel at any port in the United States prior to the completion of such examination and the granting of a permit or other document authorizing the master to bring such alien to the United States, except in the case of an alien who has been admitted to the United States and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if required by the immigration laws then in force, and who is returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad not exceeding six months in duration. Such immigrant inspector shall have the right to board the vessel at any time prior to the departure thereof from any port or place for the purpose of examining any alien on board, and to this end shall be furnished by the master with a safe and suitable place for such examination, and shall have the right to detain the vessel at the port or place of departure for a period not exceeding two hours after the scheduled time of sailing for the purpose of completing the examination of any such alien. Any master who shall refuse to permit such examination, or who shall sail the vessel before the same is completed, or before the expiration of the two hours' detention herein provided for, or who shall refuse to detain any alien when required so to do by the immigrant inspector in charge, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of departure is located the sum of $300 for each alien with respect to whom such refusal occurs. Any such penalty may be sued for and recovered by the Secretary of Labor, for the use of the United States, in any court of competent jurisdiction. SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who knowingly violates or attempts to violate, or assists or abets in the violation of any of the provisions of section 36 of this act, or who knowingly or willfully fails to perform any duty imposed upon him by or who knowingly or willfully does any act forbidden by any such provision, or who knowingly or willfully refuses to furnish information required by the Secretary of Labor, or who knowingly or willfully furnishes false information in relation thereto, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such violation.

(b) Every such person, and every agent or employee of such person who violates any provision of section 36 of this act, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every alien with respect to whom any such violation occurs. A vessel shall be cleared notwithstanding the pendency of any judicial proceedings instituted to recover any penalty or penalties imposed by this section, but no such vessel, whether cleared or sailing before or after the commencement of such proceedings, shall have the right to demand or receive the clearance papers required by law in the case of vessels duly entered, and the collector of customs is authorized to withhold clearance in case of any refusal to pay any such penalty or penalties, and may detain any vessel which has been libeled for any such penalty or penalties for a period not exceeding ten days from the date of the filing of such libel.

(c) If the master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or any person in charge or command of any vessel from any place outside the United States arriving at any port within the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company doing business in the United States, fails to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival any list or manifest of alien passengers required by section 36 of this act to be delivered, or any part thereof, such master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or transportation company shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival a sum not exceeding $10 for each and every alien not listed in such manifest, and the vessel from which such alien landed or escaped may be seized and held as security for the payment of such fine. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay such fine, and in case the same is not paid may be sold to pay the same. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may remit such fines, or any part thereof, if it is shown to his satisfaction that there was no intention to smuggle the alien or aliens in question, and that the vessel has been operated with due diligence by the master and owners and those in charge thereof.

(d) Every alien arriving at a port within the United States from any place outside thereof who is found to be in the United States in violation of this act, or of any other law of the United States, or who does not depart therefrom in accordance with the terms of any warrant of arrest issued hereunder, may be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at any time within three years after his arrival at such port by direction of the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final as to the facts of the case. Such return shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this act. If the Secretary of Labor shall not make such decision within five years after the arrival of such alien, or if the cause of deportation shall not become known to the Secretary of Labor within such time from the date of the discovery thereof by the proper officers of the Department of Labor, then such alien shall not be deported under the provisions of this section unless the Commissioner General of Immigration shall certify in writing to the Secretary of Labor that in his opinion the cause for deportation of such alien does not affect his present right to admission into the United States.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens (except those specifically exempted by the Secretary of Labor) seamen (except those seamen who are members of the crew of vessels touching at ports in the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board seamen for vessels of which they are members, and who are destined to ports in the country of which they are citizens), or to any alien (including those specifically exempted by the Secretary of Labor) who intends to land in Guam, Hawaii, Porto Rico, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, which list or manifest shall state the full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, the country of which they are severally citizens or subjects, the country whence they have severally come, and the final destination of each alien who may be applying for admission to the United States, and such other information regarding each and every alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Any master who refuses or neglects to report, or who reports falsely or incorrectly in any respect concerning any alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such default occurs, and may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, remit fines and penalties incurred under the provisions of this section.

(b) From and after six months from the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, or agent, owner, master, or consignee of any vessel to bring to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien (other than an alien lawfully admitted to the United States and returning within six months from the date of his departure therefrom, or an alien who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa) who is destined to a country which issues immigration visas, unless such alien is in possession of a valid immigration visa or such transportation is specifically authorized by the Commissioner General of Immigration under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe.

(c) If the Commissioner General of Immigration shall be satisfied that any vessel has been employed in violation of subdivision (b) of this section, he may withhold clearance to such vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while he is so satisfied, except upon the payment of a penalty of $1,000 for each violation, or the deposit of a bond in such sum as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, not exceeding $1,000 for each violation, conditioned upon the payment of such penalty as may be imposed for such violation. Clearance may be refused to any vessel concerning the payment of the penalty or the forfeiture of the bond deposited in connection therewith, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor upon the question of the liability of such vessel therefor. Pending the payment of a penalty or the deposit of a bond, as herein provided, the vessel concerning which such penalty or bond was imposed shall not be granted clearance by any collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be detained on board or at such other place as the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel may desire, approved by the immigrant inspector, pending the determination of the question of the right of such alien seaman to enter the United States. Such determination shall be made within five days after the application for a landing permit is made, unless additional time, not exceeding five days, is granted by the Secretary of Labor in any case. Pending such determination, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel may, at any time within the period allowed for the determination, take the alien seaman on board his vessel, and the vessel shall not be granted clearance by any collector of customs during the period allowed for the determination of the question of the right of the alien seaman to enter the United States, except upon the deposit of a bond or the payment of a penalty as provided in subdivision (c) of this section.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the cost of maintaining any alien seaman pending the determination of his right to enter the United States has been unduly increased by the refusal of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel to comply with the request of the immigrant inspector that such alien seaman be taken on board the vessel, such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district at which the vessel has arrived such amount as the Secretary of Labor finds to be the cost of maintaining such alien seaman, and such amount may be recovered in the manner provided for the recovery of penalties incurred under the provisions of this section.

(f) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be entitled to a hearing before a board of special inquiry, which shall be convened by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and which shall give such alien seaman all reasonable facilities for the production of evidence and witnesses in his behalf. The decision of the board of special inquiry shall be final unless reversed on appeal by the Secretary of Labor.

(g) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be entitled to appeal from the decision of the board of special inquiry to the Secretary of Labor. Such appeal shall be taken by the alien seaman giving notice in writing to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival within five days after the decision of the board of special inquiry has been rendered, unless additional time, not exceeding five days, is granted by the Secretary of Labor in any case. Pending the decision of the appeal, the alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such other place as the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel may desire, approved by the immigrant inspector, and the vessel shall not be granted clearance by any collector of customs during the period allowed for the appeal, unless the bond required by subdivision (d) of this section has been deposited with the Secretary of Labor.

(h) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any vessel on which he may be found, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien seaman is entitled to enter the United States, or unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived shall deposit with the Secretary of Labor a bond in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $1,000, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman to the port from which he came to the United States within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the payment of the cost of maintaining such alien seaman from the time he was refused a landing permit until he is returned to the port from which he came to the United States, and upon the payment of any penalty which may be imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section.

(i) Every alien seaman who is refused a landing permit by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any vessel on which he may be found, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that such alien seaman is entitled to enter the United States, or unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived shall deposit with the Secretary of Labor a bond in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $1,000, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman to the port from which he came to the United States within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the payment of the cost of maintaining such alien seaman from the time he was refused a landing permit until he is returned to the port from which he came to the United States, and upon the payment of any penalty which may be imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below is prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and is ready for delivery to the immigration inspector assigned the vessel at the port of arrival. Any such blank on hand at the office of the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (Form 888) shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a native of "Newfoundland," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel at the United States from the foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists or manifests of all the aliens on board such vessel, which lists or manifests shall be prepared at the port or place of departure in the form or to the effect prescribed by the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with such additional matter as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; but this shall not require the master of any such vessel to procure or have knowledge concerning the matters required to be stated as to any alien not destined to the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists or manifests, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly any question concerning the same propounded to him by any immigrant inspector, or who shall refuse to any such inspector the right to come on board such vessel and examine the same, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board such vessel or at the dock at which such vessel shall land, any alien who shall be designated as afflicted with any contagious disease by the medical officer of the port, until a certificate shall be issued by such medical officer that such alien may be landed without danger to the public health, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the sufficiency of the payment made, or the bond given, as aforesaid, and in case a head tax has been erroneously exacted and paid, the same shall be refunded to the master of the vessel by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is situated if application shall be made therefor within one year after the payment of said tax, and in case a bond has been given it shall be canceled without charge. Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, alter, or affect the provisions of section 4 of the act of February 20, 1907, relative to the return of head taxes in certain cases.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the last preceding section or to any person prescribed by section 35 of said act, unless the master of such vessel produces to the collector or customs officer a certificate from the proper immigrant inspector at the port of arrival that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has complied fully with the requirements of the immigration laws in respect to all aliens on board such vessel, and that the vessel is entitled to clearance under the immigration laws. Such certificate shall be delivered to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel upon the production by him of the clearance certificate from the collector or customs officer. If the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall refuse or neglect to produce such certificate from the proper immigrant inspector, the collector or customs officer shall withhold clearance from such vessel and may detain the vessel at the dock at which she is moored until the certificate is produced, or may issue a provisional clearance, which shall be effective for not more than 10 days, upon the deposit with him of a sum sufficient to cover head taxes and fines which may become due under the immigration laws.

(a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or for burial, or in case of shipwreck, or to accompany, attend, or join his wife or minor child who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa and who intends to depart on the vessel or some other vessel within thirty days from the date of the arrival of such seaman, or in case of such seaman's presentation of a valid passport and nonimmigrant visa and his application for admission as a temporary visitor for business or pleasure, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival is satisfied that such seaman intends to depart on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within a period not exceeding the period of his shore leave or within such additional time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing into the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman (which presentation in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer at the port of arrival) or who refuses to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel when ordered so to do by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who fails to report the illness or hospitalization of any such seaman, or who fails to deliver such seaman on board such vessel or to the proper immigration officer at the time of departure from the United States, or who fails to detain any such seaman on board any vessel upon which he arrives for such period of time as may be necessary to enable the immigration officer at the port of arrival to make such physical and mental examination of such seaman as he may deem necessary, or who fails to make complaint against any such seaman believed to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects which would be grounds for the exclusion of such seaman from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who fails to arrest and detain any such seaman for deportation when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such port is located a sum not to exceed $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers while any seaman who has been ordered detained on board such vessel by the Secretary of Labor remains on board without the consent of the immigration officer in charge at the port, or while any alien seaman who has been lawfully permitted to land temporarily from such vessel remains on shore beyond the period of time granted him by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or his successor in office, without having first obtained a new permit or extension of the period of the previous permit.

(b) Every alien seaman who does not depart on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or on any vessel within the period of time granted him by the immigration officer in charge at the port, or by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported at any time upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, and such deportation shall be a charge against the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year in which the deportation is effected.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will result in the introduction into the United States of any contagious disease, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board or at quarantine or other place designated by the Secretary of Labor, and may cause such alien seaman to be deported on any vessel which can accommodate him, and which is about to depart from the port, and which the Secretary of Labor deems sufficiently sanitary to prevent the introduction of disease, and may cause such alien seaman to be deported on the vessel on which he arrived or on any other

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel of the United States regularly engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and any foreign port shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of injury or emergency, unless such seaman shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence or shall have been registered and given a certificate of identification by the commissioner general of immigration or such person as he may designate for that purpose.

SEC. 36. (a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel from any foreign port to any port in the United States shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether passengers or members of the crew, and shall make oath to the correctness of such list before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. The list or manifest shall be prepared in such form and contain such information as the Commissioner General of Immigration shall prescribe. Such list or manifest shall show the full name of every person on board, his age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country whence he last came, his final destination, whether he has a ticket through, whether the sum of $50 is in his possession or not and by whom it was furnished, whether he has been in the United States before and if so when and where, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, his ability to read and write, his physical and mental condition, and such other facts as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration as to enable him properly to classify such persons according to the provisions of law. The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list or manifest containing the names of all persons employed on board such vessel, their duties while thereon, and such other information in regard to them as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require. Such list or manifest shall be delivered before any of the persons whose names are required to be entered thereon shall be landed from the vessel, and the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall not grant clearance papers for such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have certified that the provisions of this section have been complied with.

(b) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list or manifest required by subdivision (a) of this section, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question therein contained as to any person on board, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each person concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability of the person charged with the offense, and the payment of such sum as may be finally determined to be due may be enforced by proceedings in the manner provided by law for the recovery of penalties imposed upon vessels for violations of the customs laws.

(c) If the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, or to pay the head tax required by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, and if such vessel shall depart without such clearance papers the collector of customs shall refuse clearance papers for the next vessel owned in whole or in part by the owner, master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel departing from any port of the United States, until such head tax, together with a penalty of $200 for each person specified in the list required by subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid to the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel leaving the port at or about the same time, shall report in person to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival within such time as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall furnish such information as may be required by him concerning his identity and whereabouts. Every alien seaman who fails to report as required by this subdivision shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel sailing from the same port at or about the same time will result in unusual hardship to such alien seaman, or to the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, or to the detriment of maritime commerce, the Secretary of Labor may grant such alien seaman a permit to depart from the United States within such time as he may specify, and such alien seaman may be granted a visa by a consular officer and admitted to the United States solely for the purpose of departing therefrom within the time specified in such permit, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and may be granted a waiver of the provisions of section 18 of this Act if application therefor is made in his behalf before the vessel on which he arrived departs from the United States.

(f) Any master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the last quarterly head tax required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and noted thereon, has been paid, unless notice of landing of the alien entitled to the administrative fund prescribed by section 35 of this Act has been received, the deposit specified in rule 35 has been made, and the vessel is otherwise entitled to clearance.

That every alien arriving at a seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel in which such alien shall have come to the United States to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country whence he last came, his final destination, whether he has a ticket through, whether the sum of $50 is in his possession or not and by whom it was furnished, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, his ability to read and write, his physical and mental condition, and such other facts as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration as to enable him properly to classify such persons according to the provisions of law. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list or manifest containing the names of all persons employed on board such vessel, their duties while thereon, and such other information in regard to them as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require. Such list or manifest shall be delivered before any of the persons whose names are required to be entered thereon shall be landed from the vessel, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall not obtain clearance papers for such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have certified that the provisions of this section have been complied with.

(a) The master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the list or manifest required by this section, or who refuses to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question therein contained as to any person on board, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each person concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. (b) If the master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section, or to pay the head tax required by section 2 of this Act, such vessel shall not be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs, and if such vessel shall depart without such clearance papers the collector of customs shall refuse clearance papers for the next vessel owned in whole or in part by the owner, master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel departing from any port of the United States, until such head tax, together with a penalty of $200 for each person specified in the list required by this section, shall be paid to the collector of customs.

(c) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on some other vessel leaving the port at or about the same time, shall report in person to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival within such time as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall furnish such information as may be required by him concerning his identity and whereabouts. Every alien seaman who fails to report as required by this subdivision shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel sailing from the same port at or about the same time will result in unusual hardship to such alien seaman, or to the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, or to the detriment of maritime commerce, the Secretary of Labor may grant such alien seaman a permit to depart from the United States within such time as he may specify, and such alien seaman may be granted a visa by a consular officer and admitted to the United States solely for the purpose of departing therefrom within the time specified in such permit, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and may be granted a waiver of the provisions of section 18 of this Act if application therefor is made in his behalf before the vessel on which he arrived departs from the United States.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will result in unusual hardship to such alien seaman, or to the master or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, or to the detriment of maritime commerce, the Secretary of Labor may grant such alien seaman a permit to depart from the United States within such time as he may specify, and such alien seaman may be granted a visa by a consular officer and admitted to the United States solely for the purpose of departing therefrom within the time specified in such permit, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and may be granted a waiver of the provisions of section 18 of this Act if application therefor is made in his behalf before the vessel on which he arrived departs from the United States.

(f) Any master, purser, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Such report shall be made in writing on forms furnished by the Department and by each of the officers thereof.

(2) It shall be the duty of the master to report to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival the name of every alien who may be found on board his vessel at any time after departure from such port and before arrival at the next port in the United States, or before arrival at the final destination of the vessel if destined to a port in the United States, whether such alien was originally destined to the United States or not, and whether such alien was originally a member of the crew or a passenger of such vessel, and whether such alien shall land in the United States or not.

(3) Every alien who may be found on board of any vessel arriving at a port in the United States who was not reported by the master of such vessel at the port of last departure, or who was not destined to the United States, shall be detained on board or at the option of the master shall be returned to the country from which he came on the vessel on which he arrived, or to the country to which he is destined, as the case may be, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $200 for each such alien.

(4) Every alien who may be found on board of any vessel arriving at a port in the United States who has been refused a visa by the consular officer at the port of departure, shall be detained on board such vessel unless such consular officer shall subsequently grant a visa to such alien, or unless such alien shall be admitted to the United States by the Secretary of Labor.

(5) If any passenger, master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or person in charge of any vessel arriving at a port in the United States from any place outside thereof, removes, or attempts to remove, or connives at the removal of any alien from the vessel except in accordance with the provisions of the immigration laws and the rules and regulations made thereunder, or if any master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or person in charge of any vessel refuses to detain on board such vessel or at the expense of the vessel any alien required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to be detained on board such vessel, or refuses to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained at a hospital or elsewhere, or refuses to pay the cost of the return of such alien to the port from which he came to the United States, or refuses to pay the cost of the return of such alien to the country to which he is destined, such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or person in charge of any vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien in respect of whom any such violation occurs.

SEC. 39. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or any part thereof, or any person or persons on board thereof, or refuses to detain on board such vessel any person or persons found by such inspector prior to the departure of such vessel from the port, or refuses to deliver lists or manifests required by section 38 of this Act, or refuses to answer truthfully the questions therein specified, or refuses to pay the tax imposed by law on each person entering the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety therefor.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by an immigrant inspector at the time of his arrival and before he is allowed to land, and such examination shall be conducted as speedily as practicable. Such alien shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such bond or conditional permit as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he resided, at the option of the alien, if such country refuses to accept him as subject or citizen, or if the transportation lines refuse to accept him except at the regular charges, or if the vessel on which he arrived is not owned by the government of the country whence he came, or if he arrived from a country which has no seaport. Any alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported as provided by this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will result in serious injury to the party claiming him, or to the public, and that the alien can be cared for properly, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien to enter the United States subject to such conditions as he may prescribe for such time as he may specify.

SEC. 20. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who employs on board such vessel any alien seaman who does not have in his possession a certificate as required by section 18 of this Act, or who employs on board such vessel any alien seaman who has been specially excluded from employment on board such vessel by the Secretary of Labor, or who fails to deport any such alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who fails to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses to pay the tax imposed by law on each person entering the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question or the payment of such fine or tax or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety therefor, in such sum not exceeding the amount of such fine and tax as the collector of customs may require, conditioned upon the payment thereof. Such fines shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other appropriate remedy. For any such fine or tax imposed upon the master, the vessel to which he belongs shall also be liable. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety therefor.

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be examined by an immigrant inspector at the time of his arrival and before he is allowed to land, and such examination shall be conducted as speedily as practicable. Such alien shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such bond or conditional permit as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or to the country in which he resided, at the option of the alien, if such country refuses to accept him as subject or citizen, or if the transportation lines refuse to accept him except at the regular charges, or if the vessel on which he arrived is not owned by the government of the country whence he came, or if he arrived from a country which has no seaport. Any alien who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported as provided by this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien will result in serious injury to the party claiming him, or to the public, and that the alien can be cared for properly, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien to enter the United States subject to such conditions as he may prescribe for such time as he may specify.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below was prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the port of arrival and sailing. It is the duty of the master of each vessel to deliver it to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival before commencing to discharge any of the crew, except to the extent that the master may be authorized by the immigration officer in charge of the port to discharge members of the crew (not exceeding 25 per cent of the whole crew) in order to enable them to attend to the sick or injured members of the crew, or to bury any of the crew who may die during the voyage, or to secure additional members of the crew in case of emergency. Before granting such permission the immigration officer may require the master to deposit with him a sum sufficient to pay the cost of returning any of the crew so discharged who may become a public charge, and may withhold clearance of the vessel until compliance with this requirement. Failure to deliver the list to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before the vessel departs for another port renders the master liable to a penalty of $10 for each person concerning whom complete information is not furnished.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel which shall arrive at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, except seamen employed on board vessels touching only at ports in the United States, shall be permitted to land at such port of the United States from such vessel unless such alien seaman shall have been duly certified by the proper consular officer at the port or place at which he shall have embarked as a member of the crew of such vessel, or at the port or place at which he may be transferred to such vessel, as hereinafter provided, and unless the name of such alien seaman shall be entered upon the list of the crew of such vessel, prepared by the master thereof, as hereinafter provided, and unless such alien seaman shall be found upon examination by the immigrant inspector at such port of entry to be not affected with any of the mental or physical disabilities or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, and unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the said immigrant inspector that he intends to depart from the United States within the period of his authorized stay as hereinafter provided. Any master of a vessel who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each and every such violation.

SEC. 16. (a) That every alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving at any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, and every alien seaman employed on board any vessel departing from any port of the United States for any place outside thereof, shall be entered on the list or manifest of the crew of such vessel by the master thereof, and shall be described therein as to his nationality, last permanent residence, age, sex, calling, personal description, and such other facts as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) That every alien seaman who shall have been duly certified by the proper consular officer at the port or place at which he shall have embarked as a member of the crew of any vessel bound for any port of the United States from any foreign port, or who shall have been transferred from any vessel to such vessel as hereinafter provided, and who shall be found upon examination by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry to be not affected with any of the mental or physical disabilities or diseases specified in section 2 of this Act, and who shall establish to the satisfaction of said immigrant inspector that he intends to depart from the United States within the period of his authorized stay as hereinafter provided, shall be permitted to land temporarily from such vessel at such port of entry, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall be notified by the immigrant inspector in charge of such port that the Secretary of Labor has refused to grant such alien seaman a landing certificate, or unless such alien seaman is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or has a physical defect of such a character as to indicate that it may become a public charge, or unless such alien seaman has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude: Provided, That the provisions of this subdivision relating to the refusal of a landing certificate by the Secretary of Labor shall not apply to any alien seaman who is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consular officer who issued the same, unless specifically directed so to do by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) That every alien seaman who shall be granted a landing certificate or shall be permitted to land temporarily as provided in subdivision (b) of this section shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act if he shall later be found practicing prostitution or procuring or attempting to procure prostitutes to come within the United States, or if he shall become a public charge from causes existing prior to his landing and within three years after such landing, or if he shall be convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude committed within three years after such landing, unless, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, the circumstances of the case require otherwise.

(d) If the Secretary of Labor shall order any alien seaman who has been granted a landing certificate or temporary permission to land to be deported on account of any of the causes specified in subdivision (c) of this section, it shall be the duty of the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States to return him to the country from which he came or to the country in which he shall have embarked such alien seaman. Such deportation shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. (g) That every alien seaman who shall be granted a landing certificate or shall be permitted to land temporarily as provided in subdivision (b) of this section shall be required by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port to be furnished with a certificate of identity in the form prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the master shall be responsible for the return of such certificate of identity when such alien seaman departs from the United States on said vessel or on any other vessel. Any master who shall fail to return any such certificate of identity shall be fined not more than $500 for each and every such failure.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, every alien now or hereafter admitted to the United States or hereafter departing from one part of the United States to another through foreign contiguous territory, and every alien now or hereafter in transit through the United States from one foreign country to another through the United States, shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of entry or place of departure, or at such other place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and every such alien found to be mentally, physically, or morally inadmissible under the provisions of this Act, or who belongs to the classes excluded by this Act, shall be taken, kept, and returned to the country whence he came in the manner provided by this Act for the deportation of aliens who may come in violation of law. The Secretary of Labor shall have the power and it shall be his duty to establish such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act. He may require any such alien to be detained for examination or special inquiry under his direction at the port of arrival or at any other place designated by him, and for the purpose of such detention he may, in his discretion, arrange with the United States Public Health Service for the use of the buildings and other facilities of that service; and he may also arrange for the detention of such aliens in the buildings in which they may be temporarily housed while awaiting transportation to the country whence they came. All such aliens detained for special inquiry shall be given all reasonable facilities for communicating with relatives, friends, and counsel. The decision of the Secretary of Labor, or of such inspection officers as he may designate, shall be final as to the right of any alien to land who is not shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor, or of such inspection officers as he may designate, to be clearly and beyond a reasonable doubt entitled to land under the provisions of this Act; and any alien who comes in search of employment such application to land shall be considered as an application for admission, and the burden of proof shall be upon such alien to show clearly that he is entitled to land under the provisions of this Act, and that he belongs to the class privileged by this Act to land in the United States. Any alien who shall land in the United States in violation of this Act shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien who shall come into the United States in violation of law may be deported as provided in this Act at any time within three years thereafter. Any alien who becomes a public charge within three years after his entry into the United States, from causes not affirmatively shown to have arisen since his entry, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(a) Every alien who by force, threats, or violence, or by duress of person or property, shall prevent, hinder, or impede, or shall endeavor to prevent, hinder, or impede, the due examination or inspection of such alien by the officers of the United States whose duty it is to make such examination or inspection, or who shall attempt to do so, shall be deported as provided in this Act. Any alien who shall, after examination or inspection and admission as an immigrant or an alien lawfully entitled to enter the United States, knowingly assist, abet, or aid another to enter the United States in violation of law, by force, threats, or violence, or by duress of person or property, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(b) Every alien who shall, after his entry into the United States, be convicted and sentenced more than once to imprisonment in a jail or penitentiary for a term of one year or more, whether such imprisonment be pursuant to one or several convictions, and whether such sentences be concurrent or consecutive, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(c) Every alien who shall be found an inmate of or connected with the management of a house of prostitution or other place of assignation, or who shall, after the passage of this Act, receive, share in, or derive benefit from any part of the earnings of any prostitute, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(d) Every alien who shall, after the passage of this Act, engage in the business of importing, manufacturing, or publishing, or who is employed in the importing, manufacturing, publishing, selling, or exhibiting of books, papers, pictures, or printed matter of any description tending to corrupt morals, or who shall write, print, or cause to be published, or who shall knowingly circulate or distribute or attempt to circulate or distribute, or who shall knowingly have in his possession for the purpose of circulation or distribution, any book, paper, picture, or printed matter of any description containing matter advocating or suggesting the unlawful killing of any officer or officers generally or any individual officer of the United States, because of his official character, or advocating or suggesting the unlawful destruction of property, shall be deported as provided in this Act.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reasonable cause to believe that any alien is subject to deportation under the provisions of this Act, he may cause such alien to be taken into custody and detained pending the final decision as to his deportation; and he may issue a warrant for the apprehension of any such alien, which shall be executed by any United States marshal or by any other person or persons designated in writing by the Secretary of Labor.

(f) Every alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this Act shall be entitled to a hearing before the Secretary of Labor, or such officers as he may designate, to determine the cause or causes of his deportation, and shall be given a reasonable opportunity to be heard in his own behalf prior to the making of the final order of deportation. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing, and shall be final as to the facts so determined.

(g) Every alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this Act shall be entitled to receive from the appropriate immigrant station at the port of arrival the same amount of money and the same character of transportation which he had when he was admitted to the United States, or the amount of money necessary to pay his railroad fare and head tax to the immigrant station nearest to his former place of residence, and transportation to that station.

The law described below cannot be properly complied with unless the Master has read it carefully, and the Immigration Inspector possibly also. Every one of the 34 lines must be filled in, and in the instance of Italian names the exact town or village (from 930 down) of the last foreign residence must be stated. The law also requires that the Master shall deliver to the proper Immigration officer at the port of entry (from 930 down) a correct list or manifest of all such aliens as may be on board, and shall be answerable for the correctness of such manifest.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa is required by this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities specified as grounds for exclusion in the body of this Act, unless such defects or disabilities were not known to such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel and could not have been known to him by the exercise of reasonable diligence, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district at which such alien shall arrive a tax of $10 for each such alien, and in addition, pending the payment of such tax, the vessel on which such alien arrives shall be subject to detention.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of every alien at a port of the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or the person in charge of the vessel in which such alien arrives to the United States, to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all such aliens, the same to be prepared by the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, respectively, as directed by the Secretary of Labor, and to be verified by the oath of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, which list or manifest shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor as to the persons on board such vessel, their nationality, race, last residence, calling, and destination, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in such manner as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for the inspection of aliens arriving at the ports of the United States, and for the medical examination of such aliens, and for the certification of the result of such examination. Such list or manifest shall be produced before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall be sworn to before him by the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, or by the surgeon of the vessel, if there be a surgeon, and shall be subscribed by the person making oath to the same. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question concerning the same, or who shall refuse to exhibit his baggage for examination, or who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest of aliens, or who shall refuse to allow the examination of aliens by the medical officers of the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 37. (a) That any person, partnership, agent, company, or corporation who shall bring, or cause to be brought, into the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and valid passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if such passport or document is required by the provisions of this Act or rules and regulations issued thereunder, or who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported, unless such excluded alien shall have specially applied for and obtained before embarkation the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each and every such alien, and may be imprisoned for not more than one year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this subdivision in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, but who is excluded from admission to the United States upon the certificate of the examining medical officer that the alien is mentally or physically defective, such certificate to specify the mental or physical defect of such alien, and that such defect may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living.

(b) Any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, who shall bring to the United States any alien who is excluded from admission and deported under the provisions of this Act, except as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, shall pay a penalty of $200 for each such alien, and in addition, a penalty of $200 for each alien who, at the time of application for admission, is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to exclude such alien from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, which said penalties shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by suit in rem or in personam, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a provisional clearance upon the deposit of such sum as he may deem sufficient to cover such penalties: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalties and the costs that may accrue in the suit hereinafter provided for its recovery, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such penalties and costs when finally determined: Provided further, That no such penalty shall be imposed upon any steamship or transportation company or other carrier for the bringing of any alien who becomes a public charge within one year after entry, where it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such company or other carrier could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien was unable to comply with the requirements of this Act.

(c) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue to any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, clearance papers for any vessel upon which any alien is to be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place until the case of every such alien has been finally determined by the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Any person, partnership, company, or corporation who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admitted by an immigrant inspector or not lawfully entitled to enter the United States shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

(e) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish ports of entry in foreign contiguous territory for aliens coming to the United States, and may detail or employ any officer of the United States Government or of the Department of Labor in connection with the execution of the immigration laws at any such ports, and may defray the expenses of such officers and of the maintenance of such ports out of appropriations made for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(f) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue to any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, clearance papers for any vessel upon which any alien is to be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place until such time as any fine imposed upon the master for bringing an alien to the United States under the provisions of this Act shall have been paid or a sufficient sum deposited with the collector of customs to pay such fine when determined and imposed.

(g) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue to any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, clearance papers for any vessel upon which any alien is to be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place until such time as any fine imposed upon the master for bringing an alien to the United States under the provisions of this Act shall have been paid or sufficient sum deposited with the collector of customs to pay such fine when determined and imposed, and such sum may be used to pay such fine when imposed.

(h) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that such alien may remain in the United States for the reason that his deportation would result in serious injury to the party or parties who have brought him to the United States in violation of this Act, or for the reason that such alien is a member of a class which cannot be returned to the country whence he came, and in lieu of deportation of such alien the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be detained at Ellis Island or other immigrant station pending the final disposition of his case.

(i) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that such alien may remain in the United States for the reason that his deportation would result in serious injury to the party or parties who have brought him to the United States in violation of this Act, or for the reason that such alien is a member of a class which cannot be returned to the country whence he came, and in lieu of deportation of such alien the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be detained at Ellis Island or other immigrant station pending the final disposition of his case.

(j) If the Secretary of Labor shall not issue a warrant for the deportation of any alien found in the United States in violation of this Act within five years after the entry of such alien into the United States, such alien shall not be deported, but proceedings against him shall be taken only as provided in section 19 of this Act.

(a) That any person, partnership, agent, company, or corporation who shall bring into the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and valid passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if such passport or document is required by the provisions of this Act or rules and regulations issued thereunder, or who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission and deported, unless such excluded alien shall have specially applied for and obtained before embarkation the consent of the Secretary of Labor to reapply for admission, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each and every such alien, and may be imprisoned for not more than one year: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the application of this subdivision in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, but who is excluded from admission to the United States upon the certificate of the examining medical officer that the alien is mentally or physically defective, such certificate to specify the mental or physical defect of such alien, and that such defect may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living.

(b) Any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, who shall bring to the United States any alien who is excluded from admission and deported under the provisions of this Act, except as provided in subdivision (a) of this section, shall pay a penalty of $200 for each such alien, and in addition, a penalty of $200 for each alien who, at the time of application for admission, is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to exclude such alien from admission into the United States under the provisions of this Act, which said penalties shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by suit in rem or in personam, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof, but the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a provisional clearance upon the deposit of such sum as he may deem sufficient to cover such penalties and the costs that may accrue in the suit hereinafter provided for its recovery, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such penalties and costs when finally determined: Provided further, That no such penalty shall be imposed upon any steamship or transportation company or other carrier for the bringing of any alien who becomes a public charge within one year after entry, where it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such company or other carrier could not have ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence that such alien was unable to comply with the requirements of this Act.

(c) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refuse to issue to any steamship or transportation company or other carrier, or the owner, master, commanding officer, agent, or consignee of any vessel, clearance papers for any vessel upon which any alien is to be brought to the United States from any foreign port or place until such time as any fine imposed upon the master for bringing an alien to the United States under the provisions of this Act shall have been paid or sufficient sum deposited with the collector of customs to pay such fine when determined and imposed, and such sum may be used to pay such fine when imposed.

(d) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, at the cost of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall adjudge that such alien may remain in the United States for the reason that his deportation would result in serious injury to the party or parties who have brought him to the United States in violation of this Act, or for the reason that such alien is a member of a class which cannot be returned to the country whence he came, and in lieu of deportation of such alien the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien to be detained at Ellis Island or other immigrant station pending the final disposition of his case.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not issue a warrant for the deportation of any alien found in the United States in violation of this Act within five years after the entry of such alien into the United States, such alien shall not be deported, but proceedings against him shall be taken only as provided in section 19 of this Act.

SEC. 36. That upon the arrival of any alien at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing such alien to the United States, to report and cause such alien to be reported to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, or if there be no such officer at the port of arrival, then to the nearest immigration officer, before such alien shall be allowed to land, the number of such alien, the purpose for which he or she seeks admission to the United States, whether he or she has a ticket through to his or her destination, whether he or she has been in prison or in a almshouse or an institution for the care of the insane or supported by charity, whether he or she is a polygamist, whether he or she is an anarchist, whether he or she believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he or she is coming in pursuance of any previous promise or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and whether he or she has a ticket or sufficient money to pay his or her way to the place of his or her ultimate destination. Whenever any such alien shall have been admitted to the United States, and shall thereafter become a public charge from causes existing prior to his or her admission, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of immigration of the district to which such alien shall have been admitted, upon the receipt of information thereof, to cause such alien to be returned to the country whence he or she came, in the manner provided by law for the return of aliens who become public charges from causes not existing prior to admission.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector to enter such vessel for the purpose of performing any duty or exercising any power conferred upon such inspector by this Act, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board such vessel when required so to do by such inspector, or who shall refuse to pay the head tax provided for by this Act, or who shall refuse to carry back any alien who may be ordered to be deported from the United States by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States within the district in which the vessel may arrive, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom any violation of this Act occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of any fine imposed on account of the violation of the provisions of this Act, and the payment of any fine imposed on account of the violation of the provisions of this Act shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other process in the district court of the United States within the district in which such vessel may arrive. Clearance may be granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor any vessel concerning which there is a bond filed in accordance with section 2 of the Act of March 3, 1891, conditioned in a sum not exceeding $300 for each alien on board thereof, that such alien will not become a public charge within one year after landing in the United States.

(b) It shall be the duty of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States, to take back to such place such alien, if he or she shall be excluded from admission to the United States within one year after his or her arrival therein, upon the certification by the Secretary of Labor of the inability of such alien to be admitted to the United States under the provisions of this Act, and such certification shall be conclusive upon the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel. The cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the United States, and the cost of his or her removal therefrom, shall be borne by such master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel.

(c) Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section, or who knowingly aids, abets, counsels, or procures the violation thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any district court of the United States within the district in which such violation occurs shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such violation occurs.

(d) Proof that any alien has been allowed to land in violation of this section shall be prima facie evidence that the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien arrived knowingly violated the provisions of this section.

(e) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Labor, and of any person authorized by him or by the President to perform the duties imposed upon the Secretary of Labor by this section, to take such testimony and proofs as may be necessary properly to administer and enforce the provisions of this section, and any such official is hereby authorized to administer oaths to any witness appearing to testify in any such matter before him or her.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act, and may employ such additional inspectors, clerks, and other employees of the Bureau of Immigration as may be necessary for the enforcement of this Act, and may make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act, and may employ such special agents as may be necessary to secure information as to the true purpose of any alien who may be applying for admission to the United States, and may refer to the Department of Justice for prosecution any violation of law coming to his attention.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel that has been libeled for violation of section 36 of the Act of February 3, 1917, and the amount of the bond required in such case shall be sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of any fine imposed on account of the violation of the provisions of this Act, and the payment of any fine imposed on account of the violation of the provisions of this Act shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other process in the district court of the United States within the district in which such vessel may arrive. Clearance may be granted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor any vessel concerning which there is a bond filed in accordance with section 2 of the Act of March 3, 1891, conditioned in a sum not exceeding $300 for each alien on board thereof, that such alien will not become a public charge within one year after landing in the United States.

The cost of the maintenance of such alien while in the United States, and the cost of his or her removal therefrom, shall be borne by such master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below requires an alien arriving at a port to present to the Department of Labor at the time of making entry a certificate from the Immigration Inspector at the port of arrival, stating whether or not such alien has been admitted to the United States, giving the date of admission, and the class under which admitted. The law also requires the alien to present a certificate before he can obtain a certificate of clearance from the collector of customs. Masters of vessels will be fined $100 for each alien brought to the United States in violation of the law, unless it appears that the master had no reason to believe that the alien was unlawfully in the United States, or that he had complied with the law governing the bringing of aliens into the United States. Masters should therefore see that no alien is brought to the United States in violation of the law, and should require each alien to present a certificate of admission before issuing a certificate of clearance for the vessel.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to any port or place in the Panama Canal Zone or in any insular possession of the United States (except the Philippine Islands), or in the waters thereof, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or the person in charge thereof, shall be subject to the provisions of this section. Before any such vessel shall depart from any port or place in the United States for any foreign port or place (including the Philippine Islands, Guam, Tutuila, and Panama Canal Zone), the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deliver to the boarding officer, as the vessel is leaving the dock or pier, a list or manifest containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of every passenger who has been granted admission into the United States and who is destined to any foreign port or place (including the Philippine Islands, Guam, Tutuila, and Panama Canal Zone), and the boarding officer shall thereupon certify upon such list or manifest the name of every such passenger for whom a certificate of admission has been granted before the departure of the vessel from the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall deliver an incorrect or false list or manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to certify upon the list or manifest the name of every such passenger for whom a certificate of admission has been granted before the departure of the vessel from the United States, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such violation: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the delivery of the list or manifest of passengers and the certification thereof in the case of vessels carrying no passengers, or in case of the failure of any person entitled to demand the list or manifest to demand the same before the departure of the vessel, upon the production by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel of a sworn statement that the list or manifest could not be procured before departure and that affiant has made due diligence to procure the same.

SEC. 39. That the Commissioner-General of Immigration, the assistant commissioners-general, the boarding officers, and such other officers of the Department of Labor as may be designated for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor, shall have power to enter any vessel or vehicle in which they believe aliens are being brought into the United States, to board and search the vessel at any time, to arrest any aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law, and to take them on shore for examination by the immigrant inspectors at the proper port of entry. They shall have power to administer oaths and to examine any person touching the right of any alien to enter, pass through, or reside in the United States, and to require the production of any book, paper, or document which may be deemed necessary to enforce the immigration laws. They shall have power to arrest any alien who shall be found in the United States in violation of this Act, or in violation of any rule, regulation, or order made by the Commissioner-General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and to take him on board any vessel or vehicle in which he may be found, or to any port of entry for examination by the immigrant inspectors at such port. The Commissioner-General of Immigration, the assistant commissioners-general, the boarding officers, and such other officers of the Department of Labor as may be designated for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor may administer oaths and take and consider evidence touching the right of any alien to enter, pass through, or reside in the United States, which evidence shall be taken and considered only at a hearing held after full notice to the alien and full opportunity to the alien to be present, to inspect and controvert the evidence produced, and to cross-examine witnesses. Such hearing shall be separate and apart from the public, and the record of evidence shall be kept currently in typewriting in the case of each alien, and shall be filed with the case. Any person who knowingly makes false entry or statement in the record of evidence in any such case shall be deemed guilty of perjury and shall be punished accordingly. Any person who knowingly aids or assists any alien to enter the United States in violation of law, or who harbors any such alien after he has entered the United States in violation of law, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years and by a fine of not more than $5,000.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 7. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the last required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, shall have been rendered, and not then unless notice of liability to the penalties therein prescribed by said section or to the fine prescribed by section 35 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as the case may be, has been served, the amount thereof collected or the payment thereof secured to the satisfaction of the collector.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel documented under the laws of the United States, or on the navigable waters of the United States, except upon the same class of certificate, if any, as may be required of citizen seamen by section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended by section 11 of the Act of June 5, 1920, or by section 2 of the Act of March 3, 1921, as the case may be: Provided, That the master of any vessel may employ in any capacity on board his vessel any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has resided therein for not less than five years next preceding his employment on board such vessel, if there is no citizen seaman available who is competent to perform the duties required of such alien seaman.

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States shall be liable to a tax of $8 for each such alien seaman, which shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of first arrival is located and before such vessel shall depart from such port, and in default of such payment shall constitute a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by the issuance of a warrant of distraint and seizure by the Commissioner of Customs, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, and the sale of such vessel to pay said tax, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount of said tax, as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman on the departure of such vessel from the United States within four months from the date of such deposit, to be forfeited to the United States in case of failure to return such alien seaman within said period, unless such failure is excused and the forfeiture remitted upon the certificate of the Commissioner of Immigration that such alien seaman has been taken from the United States within said period by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel or that such alien seaman is dead or has become insane, or has been imprisoned for a crime committed subsequent to his entry, or has been deported at the request of the foreign government, or has been found by the Commissioner of Immigration to have been unable to depart or to be returned to the country whence he came without becoming a public charge, or has been found by the Commissioner of Immigration to have been compelled to remain in the United States in order to testify in behalf of the United States in the prosecution of any person charged with violating any of the immigration laws, or has been found by the Commissioner of Immigration to be a stowaway who was concealed on board such vessel without the knowledge of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof prior to the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place visited by it: Provided, That the Commissioner of Immigration may, in his discretion, extend the period within which such bond may be prosecuted to judgment for not more than one year.

(b) Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer may appeal from the decision of the Commissioner of Immigration to the Secretary of Labor within such time and upon such notice as the Secretary of Labor may by regulation prescribe, and the decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any alien seaman has been granted shore leave by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived, and has failed to return to such vessel, or has been left behind in the United States by such vessel, or has been landed from such vessel at any port or place in the United States without the permission of the immigrant inspector in charge at such port or place, the Secretary of Labor may cause a warrant to be issued for the arrest of such alien seaman, which warrant may be served by any immigrant inspector, immigrant guard, or officer of customs or internal revenue, or by any officer of the United States Coast Guard, and such alien seaman shall be taken before a board of special inquiry at the port or place where he is found, and such board shall make such order in the case as may be authorized by law. Any such alien seaman who shall be ordered deported shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or on any vessel owned by the same interests, or on any vessel which will transport him to the country whence he came, or to the country to which he belongs, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be a lien against such vessel, to be collected as provided in the case of penalties imposed upon the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below is prepared on blank forms supplied by the Department and is ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and blank forms will be furnished on request before the vessel's departure. The law is in substance as follows:

Whoever on arriving aliens at a port designated by the Secretary of Labor, or at any other place where any such alien may be landed or permitted to land, shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by the United States immigration officer in charge at such port or place, or shall hinder or delay or attempt to hinder or delay any such immigration officer in the performance of his duty, or shall refuse to detain any such alien when required so to do, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 20. That any person, whether a master of a vessel or not, who shall bring into or land in the United States from any vessel any alien not duly entitled to enter, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect such alien, or shall assist him to land in the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and shall pay to the commissioner of immigration of the district in which such alien may enter the sum of $200 for each and every such alien.

SEC. 21. That any master of a vessel who shall refuse to receive back in the vessel on the return trip any alien temporarily landed from the vessel by the immigration officials at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to carry such alien to the port for which the vessel shall clear, shall pay a penalty of $300 for each such alien, to be sued for and recovered by the United States in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit any such alien to land temporarily for medical treatment without the payment of such penalty.

SEC. 22. That no vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place shall be allowed to land any alien, except upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that the proper entries have been made in the manifest concerning such alien, as provided for in this act, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied fully with the requirements of law relative to such alien.

SEC. 23. That the Commissioner-General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe rules and regulations for the inspection, detention, and examination of aliens arriving at ports of the United States, and shall detail and assign such immigrant inspectors for duty at each port as shall be necessary to secure the proper execution of the immigration laws of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 18. That no alien shall be admitted to the United States unless he shall have been inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the port of entry, which inspection shall include a personal examination by a medical officer of the Public Health Service, and no alien who is determined by the medical officer to be mentally or physically defective, such defect being certified in the case of aliens seeking admission to the United States for the first time by the boards of special inquiry hereinafter provided for, shall be admitted to the United States, except that children under sixteen years of age, who are otherwise admissible, may be admitted if accompanying or subsequently naturalized parents: Provided, That any alien who at the time of application for admission is found to be suffering from tuberculosis in any form or from any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be certified and excluded: Provided further, That any alien who is excluded because found to be mentally defective shall have the right to appeal to the Secretary of Labor if complaint in writing is made within ten days after the certification of such defect, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: And provided further, That the decision of the boards of special inquiry in the cases of all aliens who are certified to be suffering from physical defects, diseases, or infirmities which will render them helpless or likely to become a public charge, or to be dangerously contagious, or which will certainly or probably endanger the health or safety of the United States, may be appealed to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final: And provided further, That such decision shall be rendered within ten days after the receipt of the certified record of the case by the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 19. That the decision of a board of special inquiry adverse to the admission of any alien may be appealed by such alien or by the master of the vessel on which he arrived to the Secretary of Labor if such appeal is taken within three days after the decision complained of is rendered, and the Secretary of Labor shall cause a prompt investigation of the case to be made, and his decision shall be final unless reversed by the Secretary of Labor. Pending the decision on appeal, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officials, or temporarily landed and released under such bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor or the commissioner of immigration of the district in which the case arises.

SEC. 20. (a) That no owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel shall bring into the United States from any place outside the United States any alien not duly entitled to enter, or any alien afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient ground for excluding such alien from admission into the United States if known to the immigration officials, or any alien who has been deported under the provisions of this act, or who has been refused permission to land upon the ground that he is a member of one of the classes excluded by this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any rule, regulation, or order made by the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any treaty or convention between the United States and any foreign country now existing or hereafter made, or any alien who has come in violation of any law of the United States not inconsistent herewith, or any alien who has come by means of any subterfuge or by the payment of any consideration to any officer, employee, or agent of the United States or of any transportation company by which such alien, or any other alien, has been brought in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or any person who shall aid or assist any alien to come in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect any such alien after he has come into the United States in violation of this act, or who shall assist any such alien to land in secret and unlawfully within the United States or within the jurisdiction of the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and shall pay to the commissioner of immigration of the district in which such alien may enter the sum of $200 for each and every such alien.

(b) That any person, whether a master of a vessel or not, who shall bring into the United States from any place outside thereof, and who knowingly or with reckless disregard of the facts to be alleged conceals, harbors, or shields from detection, or attempts to conceal, harbor, or shield from detection, in any manner whatsoever any such alien in any place, including any railroad car, automobile, or other vehicle of transportation, or who shall harbor any such alien in pursuance of any such unlawful importation, knowing that such alien is in the United States in violation of this act, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) That any person who shall knowingly aid or assist any alien to land at a place other than a designated port of entry or at a time other than as designated by immigration officials, or who shall connive or conspire with any person or persons to bring in any alien who is subject to exclusion under any of the provisions of this act, or who shall receive, conceal, harbor, or attempt to conceal, harbor, or protect from detection any such alien after he has come into the United States in violation of law, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) That any person who shall, in any manner whatsoever, aid or assist any alien afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient ground for excluding such alien from admission into the United States if known to the immigration officials, or any alien who has been deported under the provisions of this act, or who has been refused permission to land upon the ground that he is a member of one of the classes excluded by this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any rule, regulation, or order made by the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of this act, or any alien who has come in violation of any treaty or convention between the United States and any foreign country now existing or hereafter made, or any alien who has come in violation of any law of the United States not inconsistent herewith, or any alien who has come by means of any subterfuge or by the payment of any consideration to any officer, employee, or agent of the United States or of any transportation company by which such alien, or any other alien, has been brought in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or any person who shall aid or assist any alien to come in violation of any of the provisions of this act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or protect any such alien after he has come into the United States in violation of this act, or who shall assist any such alien to land in secret and unlawfully within the United States or within the jurisdiction of the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place unless such alien shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily while the vessel is in port, and if ordered deported shall be detained on board or at quarantine until such time as he can be deported: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe rules and regulations governing the admission and landing of seamen employed on vessels arriving at ports of the United States, and may issue such orders and take such steps as he deems necessary to prevent the illegal landing or entry into the United States of any alien seaman.

SEC. 30. (a) That the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge of such vessel, who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by the immigration officers in charge of the examination of the vessel or of the aliens on board thereof, or who shall hinder or delay or attempt to hinder or delay any such immigration officer in the performance of his duty, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien when required so to do, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. On the trip of any vessel carrying alien seamen arriving at any port of the United States from a foreign port, the master, purser, or other officer in charge of such vessel shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of first arrival a list or manifest of all alien seamen employed on board such vessel, and a like list or manifest of all alien seamen who may be discharged or who may desert while in port. Such list or manifest shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's arrival in port as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information as may be required by him. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master, purser, or other officer in charge of such vessel, and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any master, purser, or other officer in charge of such vessel who shall fail to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse to answer any question concerning any alien seaman on board such vessel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense.

(a) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be reported by the master to the immigration officer at the port, and such report shall be signed by the master and shall contain the name, nationality, last residence, and description of such alien seaman, the date of desertion, the vessel from which he deserted, and such other facts as may be required by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) It shall be necessary for any alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port to present himself to the immigration officer at the port of arrival for examination before he shall be permitted to land in the United States, except that seamen employed on vessels touching only at ports of countries adjacent to the United States, or touching only at such ports and ports of countries not adjacent to the United States, may be examined at such times and places as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) Every alien seaman who shall be found after the arrival of the vessel in port to have been employed on board such vessel in violation of this section shall be taken into custody by the immigration officer at the port and shall be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States unlawfully. Any master, purser, or other officer in charge of such vessel who shall refuse to pay the cost of such deportation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported as an alien who has entered the United States unlawfully, except that such deportation shall not be required if such alien seaman (1) is a bona fide resident of the United States at the time of his desertion, and (2) was lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence within five years next preceding the date of his desertion, and (3) proves to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has complied with the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to his admission and residence in the United States, and (4) is not within any of the classes of aliens who are ineligible to citizenship or who are subject to deportation under the provisions of section 19 of this act.

(e) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, except that he may be deported to any country which he may designate if the cost of deportation to such country does not exceed the cost of deportation to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, except that he may be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he next arrives in the United States, or at the expense of the vessel to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, or at the expense of the vessel to any country which he may designate if the cost of deportation to such country does not exceed the cost of deportation to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States.

(g) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported at the earliest practicable time after the vessel on which he arrived in the United States has departed from a port in the United States, except that he may be deported at any time within one year after his desertion at the expense of the vessel on which he next arrives in the United States, or at the expense of the vessel to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States, or at the expense of the vessel to any country which he may designate if the cost of deportation to such country does not exceed the cost of deportation to the country in which he resided at the time of his last entry into the United States.

(h) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have received word from the immigration officer at the port of arrival within ten days after the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived has departed from such port that such alien seaman has been deported, it shall be presumed that such alien seaman has departed from the United States on such vessel, unless the master, purser, or other officer in charge of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been otherwise deported or has died or has been lawfully imprisoned or has been otherwise lawfully removed from the United States, or has become a citizen thereof.

(i) Every alien seaman who shall desert while such vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported without regard to the provisions of section 19 of this act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under any immigration law, treaty, or convention now in force or hereafter entered into between the United States and any foreign country, except Canada, Newfoundland, the Republic of Panama, the Republic of Cuba, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, the Republic of Mexico, or the Republic of France, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the immediate necessity to secure other crew members, or unless (1) the consul general, consul, or commercial agent of the country to which the vessel belongs or of a country represented by such officer, at the port of arrival, shall have visaed a list containing the name of such seaman, to be furnished by the master of the vessel before departure from each foreign port, and (2) the vessel shall have obtained from the Secretary of Labor a permit for the landing of such seaman, which permit shall be granted by the Secretary of Labor if, in his opinion, the services of such seaman are necessary to the vessel, and if he finds that such seaman is not afflicted with any contagious disease, is not a member of the anarchistic or other classes excluded from admission to the United States by section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and is not an alien who, if an application for a visa were made by him, would be refused such visa under section 2 of the immigration act of May 26, 1924, and if the vessel on which he arrives has complied with all the requirements of law. Any seaman who shall land in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, unless he shall, within four months after such landing, be lawfully admitted to the United States or shall have become entitled to a permanent residence therein. Any master who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each and every such violation.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that the master of any vessel has failed to comply with the provisions of this section, or with any of the rules and regulations governing the admission of seamen hereunder, he may withhold clearance for such vessel until such time as he shall be satisfied that such provisions, rules, and regulations will be complied with in the future.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every vessel of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel bringing any person into the United States to deliver to the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival lists or manifests of all such persons, containing such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and to subscribe and deliver to the inspector a declaration before a duly authorized officer, stating that the list or manifest delivered by him is in all respects true and correct, and that no person therein named has been omitted whose landing in the United States may be prohibited by this Act, and that he will not land or permit to be landed any person so prohibited without first obtaining permission therefor from the Secretary of Labor, except as provided by section 37 of this Act. Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel failing to deliver such list or manifest at the time of departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place, or failing to deliver such list or manifest at the port of arrival, or failing to make oath to the same, or to obtain permission to land any person before landing him, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly aids or abets any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel in violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing persons to the United States from any foreign port or place shall be liable to a tax of $8 for each such person not duly entered and accounted for in accordance with the provisions of section 36 of this Act, which tax shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be recovered by suit in the name of the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located, and the payment of such tax may be enforced by the withholding of the clearance of the vessel by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of departure is located, or by the refusal of the Secretary of the Treasury to issue such vessel a certificate of registry, enrollment, or license, or a permit to proceed in ballast to another port for the purpose of taking on board cargo, or by the withholding of such certificate, license, or permit when issued, or by the refusal of clearance papers to such vessel by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of departure is located, or by the withholding of such clearance papers when issued, or by any two or more of such methods. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of departure is located while such vessel remains subject to the payment of such tax, except that clearance papers may be issued upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to pay such tax, or upon the production of a certificate from the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel has given a bond to the United States in a sum sufficient to pay such tax, conditioned upon the payment thereof. The Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, remit any tax imposed by this section, or any part thereof, paid or incurred in excess of the amount legally due hereunder.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port within the United States from any foreign port or place, and every alien departing from a port within the United States for any foreign port or place, shall be required to pay a tax of $8 to cover the cost of the services performed in connection with the admission or departure of such alien, respectively, and such tax shall be a lien upon the vessel bringing such alien to the United States or taking such alien from the United States, and shall be collected in the manner provided in subdivision (a) of this section for the collection of taxes imposed by said subdivision.

SEC. 20. (a) That every vessel arriving at a port within the United States from any foreign port or place shall be required to report to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the number of aliens on board, the ports at which they severally embarked, their sex, age, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether they have a ticket through to such destination, whether their passage is paid or in whole or in part by any person or corporation in the United States, and if so by whom, whether they have been in the United States previously, and if so when and how long, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are coming in pursuance of a prearranged contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, whether they have any relatives, and if so what relatives, in the United States, and if so their names and residences, whether they intend to return to their native country after a temporary visit, whether they are polygamists, whether they are under sentence of death for any crime or have been convicted of any felony or other infamous crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor.

(b) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem it necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws to require additional information of aliens departing from the United States, he may prescribe such additional information, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel shall cause the same to be furnished by each alien before departure, and in default thereof shall be liable to the penalties prescribed in section 36 of this Act for failure to furnish information required by said section.

(c) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any vessel who refuses or fails to comply with the requirements of this section, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any immigrant inspector in relation to any matter concerning which information is required by this section, or by any rule made in pursuance thereof, or who shall answer any such question falsely, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(d) Every alien who shall not depart from the United States within the period fixed by the Secretary of Labor for the departure of aliens who have been admitted to the United States, or who shall have remained therein for a longer period than that for which he was admitted, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by sickness or physical or mental disability or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the action or non-action of the transportation company on which he engaged passage, or that he has become a public charge, and the cost of his deportation shall be a lien against any vessel on which he may have come to the United States, which lien may be enforced in the manner provided for the enforcement of the lien for the tax imposed by subdivision (a) of this section.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor shall not have issued a warrant for the arrest of an alien within five years after the entry of such alien into the United States, or if the person to be deported shall have become a naturalized citizen, such alien shall not be deported unless, in the judgment of the Secretary of Labor, such alien belongs to one or more of the classes of aliens who were excluded by the law in force at the time of such entry.

(g) If the Secretary of Labor shall deem it necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws to require additional information of aliens departing from the United States, he may prescribe such additional information, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of the vessel shall cause the same to be furnished by each alien before departure, and in default thereof shall be liable to the penalties prescribed in section 36 of this Act for failure to furnish information required by said section.

SEC. 21. No alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, except temporarily for the purpose of discharging cargo, or unloading, repairing, or painting such vessel, and then only if such alien seaman is detained on board by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall be subject to such regulations governing the movements of such alien seamen as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the purpose of controlling and limiting the movements of such alien seamen while such vessel is in port. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place who shall desert from such vessel while in port shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to depart was occasioned by sickness or physical or mental disability or other cause beyond his control, or by reason of the action or non-action of the transportation company on which he engaged passage, or that he has become a public charge, and the cost of his deportation shall be a lien against any vessel on which he may have come to the United States, which lien may be enforced in the manner provided for the enforcement of the lien for the tax imposed by subdivision (a) of this section.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, establish in connection with any of the immigrant stations established by law such branch stations, to be supervised by such officers of his department as he may designate, as may be necessary for the proper inspection of aliens coming to the United States over different classes of transportation lines, and shall establish such branch stations at ports where the Commissioner General of Immigration shall recommend that they are most needed for the expeditious inspection of aliens arriving at such ports.

SEC. 38. That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe rules and regulations for the entry of aliens across the borders of contiguous countries to the United States, and shall employ such agents and shall establish such stations at such places on the borders of the United States as he may deem necessary for the proper execution of the immigration laws.

SEC. 42. That the sum of $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by the Secretary of Labor in the enforcement of the provisions of this Act, including the employment of such attorneys and other assistants in the city of Washington and elsewhere as may be necessary, and for the rent of such buildings as may be necessary for the use of the Department of Labor in the city of Washington.

Such examination shall be made in accordance with such instructions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the medical officers shall certify the physical and mental condition of each alien examined by them. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such instructions as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section, including the transportation, maintenance, and medical care of aliens who become public charges pending the result of the examination of such aliens. Such instructions shall provide that the medical officers shall make a written record of the mental examination of each alien certified by them as mentally defective, which record shall show in such cases specifically the nature of the defect, the data upon which it is based, and the opinion of the medical officers as to whether the defect will affect the ability of the alien to earn a living. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. On and after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, no alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States unless he shall be in possession of a valid seaman's identification certificate issued by the Department of Labor in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, which certificate shall contain such description of the alien seaman, including his nationality, former residence, and personal peculiarities, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be authenticated by the consular officer issuing the same. Such certificate shall be issued in duplicate, one copy to be delivered to the alien seaman and the other to be filed with the records of the Department of Labor. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence in favor of the alien seaman named therein that he is entitled to the privilege of shore leave. Upon the application of the master, agent, or consignee of any vessel, the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit to any alien seaman employed on board thereof to enter the United States solely as a member of the crew of such vessel without requiring the production of a certificate by such alien seaman, and may prescribe rules and regulations governing the issuance of such permits. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having in his possession a certificate as required by this section, or a permit issued in lieu thereof, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure to have in his possession such certificate or permit was due to circumstances beyond his control or without fault on his part.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any alien seaman has remained in the United States for a period in excess of the period for which he was admitted, or has violated any of the conditions of his admission, or is subject to deportation under any provision of this Act, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken into custody and detained at such place as he may designate pending a determination of the cause or causes for which he was taken into custody. Unless such alien seaman shall be admitted by the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, or by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized agent, he shall cause such alien seaman to be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or denizen, as he may elect, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having in his possession a certificate as required by this section, or a permit issued in lieu thereof, shall

Each alien must be carefully questioned by the Immigrant Inspector and the answers recorded on this list. Write plainly, with pen and ink, and do not erase. Any mistake may be corrected by drawing a line through the incorrect entry, but the correction must be made by the Inspector and not by the alien. Every question must be answered, or a satisfactory reason given why it is not answered. Do not use ditto marks. Be careful to number the aliens correctly, and to keep the family records together. Any alien who is in doubt as to the meaning of any question should be asked to consult the Inspector rather than to guess at the answer. Any alien who is found to have given false information will be liable to deportation.

Each alien must be carefully questioned by the Immigrant Inspector and the answers recorded on this list. Write plainly, with pen and ink, and do not erase. Any mistake may be corrected by drawing a line through the incorrect entry, but the correction must be made by the Inspector and not by the alien. Every question must be answered, or a satisfactory reason given why it is not answered. Do not use ditto marks. Be careful to number the aliens correctly, and to keep the family records together. Any alien who is in doubt as to the meaning of any question should be asked to consult the Inspector rather than to guess at the answer. Any alien who is found to have given false information will be liable to deportation.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING ALIEN MANIFESTS

Separate manifests should be prepared for each port in which passengers embark for the United States, recording on separate manifests immigrants who are to be admitted outside the quota, as defined by the immigration Act of 1924; and also recording on separate manifests those aliens traveling in the third class and the so-called tourist class, whether such persons are subject to the quota or not. The manner in which information is to be given in the several columns of the manifest should be governed by the instructions printed in the third class; but in the case of persons in different classes, appropriate entries should be made in the proper columns. Each person must be entered on a separate line, and the names of the members of each family must be written in consecutive order, with the surname, Christian name, and middle initial (if any) of each person given in full. Ditto marks (") may be used for repeating the surname and for the words "do" and "ditto" when the information is the same as that given in the line above, but not for initials or figures. Any corrections or erasures must be explained by a notation on the manifest.

Column 1 (Number on list).—Number persons consecutively, beginning anew with each page.

Column 2 (Last name).—Enter surname (family name) in full.

Column 3 (First name and middle initial).—Enter given names in full, and middle initial, if any.

Column 4 (Age).—Enter age of person at last birthday. If under 1 year, express in months, as "6/12".

Column 5 (Sex).—Enter "M" (male) or "F" (female).

Column 6 (Married or single).—Enter "M" (married), "S" (single), "W" (widowed), or "D" (divorced).

Column 7 (Calling or occupation).—Enter every alien 10 years of age and over, whether actually employed or not, specifying occupation, if any, of each person listed. If no occupation, state "none." If a laborer, specify whether agricultural, general, or other laborer, and specify the branch of industry to which he devotes his labor, as "agriculture," "railroad," "building trades," "mining," "manufacturing," "lumbering," etc. Do not use indefinite terms, such as "laborer," "engineer," "clerk," "manufacturer," "dealer," "agent," "servant," "student," "housewife," "gentleman," "lady," "boy," "girl," "child," "infant," or "none."

Column 8 (Nationality).—Give nationality of each person listed, whether native or naturalized. If native, give country; if naturalized, give country in which naturalization was granted. SEC. 38. That upon arrival in the United States from the foreign port or place if alien be found to be of the class of the removable aliens described in the preceding section of this Act he shall be taken into custody and a careful inspection shall be made of him by the immigration officers, and if it shall be found by the examining officers that he belongs to one of the removable classes of aliens he shall be detained and not be allowed to land, except temporarily for examination before a special board of inquiry, unless he shall satisfy the immigration officers that he is clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to land under all laws, rules, and regulations applicable thereto, or unless he is duly admitted by the said special board of inquiry, or unless he is allowed to land temporarily under bond as provided in section 23 of this Act, or unless he is certified by the said special board of inquiry for special inquiry by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate: Provided, That the decision of the special board of inquiry shall be final as to the right of any alien to land, unless appeal be taken from such decision in the manner provided for by section 25 of this Act: Provided further, That any alien who has been duly admitted to the United States shall not be deported without a warrant issued by the Secretary of Labor within three years next after the time of his entry into the United States, except as provided in section 19 of this Act, and that warrants shall be issued only upon the certificate of the board of special inquiry hereinbefore provided for, or upon a hearing before the Secretary of Labor, unless otherwise specifically provided by treaty, and that any alien who shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such doctrine, shall upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided in this section for the deportation of aliens who have entered unlawfully.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel arriving in the United States under the immigration laws and temporarily on board any vessel touching at a port of the United States, except a seaman employed on board a vessel engaged in trade between the United States and the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Philippine Islands, or between any two of such places, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the inspector in charge at the port of arrival finding that such seaman is not a member of a class which may be excluded from admission into the United States under section 3 of the immigration act of 1917, or under any other law or treaty now in force, and that the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has issued a permit to such seaman to land for a period not to exceed 29 days, which permit may be revoked at any time in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor and which may be renewed for like periods in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Upon the granting of such permit to land, a bond in the penal sum of $500 with sufficient surety or sureties shall be given for the return of such seaman to the vessel or other vessel or transportation line bringing him to the United States, to be approved by the collector of customs. Upon the refusal of such vessel or transportation line to return such seaman when required, the bond shall be prosecuted for the recovery of the said penal sum as liquidated damages. Upon the return of such seaman to the vessel or transportation line on which he arrived in the United States, the bond shall be canceled. Such seaman may be required to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the cost of his return passage and maintenance while detained in the United States, and such deposit shall be a lien upon the vessel, which lien shall be superior to all other liens except those for wages of the crew of such vessel, and such deposit shall not be withdrawn until the certificate provided for in section 4 hereof has been issued. Such deposit shall be returned to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person other than the seaman who made the deposit when the seaman has left the United States or has been returned to the country whence he came or to the country of his birth or citizenship, or has been admitted to permanent residence therein, or has become a citizen of the United States, or when the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that the deposit is no longer required as security for the return of the seaman. Such deposit may be used to defray the cost of maintenance and return of the seaman, and the surplus, if any, shall be accounted for by the collector of customs to the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 32. (a) That no master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel of the United States shall engage foreign seamen in any port of the United States unless and until he has first obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor or from such person or persons as he may designate for the purpose, stating that he has complied with the law in the shipping of foreign seamen, and that he has reason to believe that the seamen so shipped are not prohibited from landing by the immigration laws. Such certificate may be granted upon the application of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel, and shall be granted only upon the production of the crew list and the consular certificates of the seamen so shipped, and upon the inspection of the vessel and the seamen by the proper immigration officers. Such certificate shall be granted without charge, and shall be valid for the return voyage of the vessel from the port at which it is granted to the port at which the crew list was viséed by the consular officer abroad, and for 10 days thereafter, unless sooner revoked by the Secretary of Labor or such person as he may designate for the purpose.

(b) Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing seamen to the United States who refuses or neglects to deliver to the proper immigration officers at the time of inspection of the vessel a complete and accurate list of the crew, or who refuses or neglects to truthfully answer the questions stated in the list as to each seaman employed on board, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any seaman has been permitted to land temporarily under bond as provided in section 31 of this Act, and has remained in the United States for a period in excess of that allowed, or has been employed on board of any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, or has departed from the United States without the consent of the Secretary of Labor, the bond given for the return of such seaman to the vessel shall be declared forfeited and collected, and such seaman, if found in the United States, may be arrested and deported in the manner provided for the deportation of aliens who have entered unlawfully.
